Cuban President To Fight Impeachment

(International News Service)

HAVANA, Dec. 21—Determined to hold his job if he can, President Miguel Mariano Gomez drew up his battle lines today to fight the impeachment proceedings scheduled to get under way in the house of representatives this afternoon.

The ouster attempt will be formally launched at a secret session of the house, called for 5 p. m. The impeachment movement has resulted from Gomez' opposition to and threat to veto the sugar tax bill to finance a military school program favored by Col. Fulgencio Batista, Cuba's military "dictator".

With the battle developing into a contest for power in which Batista is seeking to keep his iron grip on the island, Gomez mapped his strategy to combat the charges which will be brought against him, chief of which is an accusation that he sought to coerce congress by declaring against the tax bill.

Gomez himself refused to comment, but the secretary of the presidency, Domingo Macias, said Gomez planned to fight the charges on grounds they are unfounded and unjust.

Madrid Battle Is Deadlocked

Heavy Casualties Reported In Other Sectors On Spanish War Front

MADRID AGAIN HEAVILY BOMBED

By THOMAS A. LOAYZA
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MADRID, Dec. 21.—Heavy casualties were reported on far-flung sectors of Spain's civil war as renewed fighting broke out on several fronts, but the struggle for possession of Madrid remained deadlocked.

The Madrid defense committee issued a communique asserting Loyalist troops repulsed rebel assaults in the Villanueva district and made actual advances in the Carabanchel and Villaverde regions west of the capital.

Claims broadcast by the insurgents, however, said the rebels achieved marked gains at Villanueva, killing many Leftist troops and ctpturing four French mortars.

Bruno Search Is Extended

Attorney General Margiotti Accuses Jailer Of Spiriting Bruno Away

FOUR DEFENDANTS HELD FOR COURT

(International News Service)

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 21.—The search for Joseph J. Bruno and the investigation of his escape from serving a triple life sentence in Schuylkill county jail continued today, sharpened by Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti's flat accusation that Bruno was spirited away by his jailers.

Bruno, convicted of murder for his part in the Kelayres election eve "massacre" of 1934, has been missing since Friday, when a guard reported he slipped away while being taken to a dentist. A $1,000 reward offered by the county commissioners has failed to uncover the whereabouts of "Big Joe."

But with Warden Herbert Gosslin, two of his underlings, and Bruno's daughter, Mrs. Anoinette Billig, under arrest, Margiotti charged:

Aided By Guard

"From the facts of the investigation thus far it is certain that the guard (Guy Irving) did not take Bruno to a dentist's office, as he says he did, but drove him directly to a spot where a means of carrying him away was provided."

Margiotti's probe embraced Republican political activities in the county.

All four defendants in the "stroll-away" escape case—Gosslin, his first deputy, Robert Walker; Guy Irving, the guard; and Mrs. Billig—each were held under $15,000 bail. Only Mrs. Billig was unable to provide bail and went to jail.

Earlier, the three men had been dismissed for "gross negligence" by the county commissioners.

Expect Release Of Chiang Soon

Believe Generalissimo Will Be Freed Within 48 Hours

LOYALISTS TROOPS CLAIM SUCCESSES

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

SHANGHAI, Dec. 21.—Liberation of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, held more than a week by Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang in an effort to force China into war against Japan, is expected within 48 hours, official declared today.

W. W. Donald, Chiang's British advisor, has returned to Nanking by airplane, and the country has been flooded with propaganda indicating virtually all regions are united to discourage the hopes of Marshal Chang and his rebels. Donald previously was at Sianfu, where Chiang is held, negotiating for the Generalissimo's release.

Meanwhile a telegram—the first from a foreign source at Sianfu since outbreak of the revolt—was received at Hankow, stating 50 foreigners at Sianfu were all safe. Missionaries isolated in remote regions of eastern Kansu were also reported all safe.

Earlier the Nanking government ordered resumption of hostilities against the rebels because of their failure to free Chiang.

Shortly after the Loyalist troops again moved against the Shensi rebels, the government claimed its forces had captured Hwahsien, 50 miles east of Sianfu after a sharp engagement.

Settlement Quite Possible

Meanwhile T. V. Soong, a member of the economic council, who went to Sianfu to negotiate for Chiang's release, returned to Nanking and announced:

"Settlement of the revolt and release of Generalissimo Chiang are quite possible."

He said he consulted Marshal Chang and had a private interview with Chiang last night.

In addition, according to reports here, the towns of Weinan, Huayin and Sanyuan were bombed by airplanes as the drive against the rebels got underway.

Thousands of college and university students are taking part in the propaganda drive against the rebels. They are seeking signatures for a telegram condemning Marshal Chang and his aims and demanding immediate release of Chiang.

Lewistown, Pa., Fire Damage Is Set At $125,000

(International News Service)

LEWISTOWN, Pa., Dec. 21.—Police and fire officials sought a clue today to the mysterious blaze which broke out in the Montgomery Ward department store here, causing an estimated loss of $125,000.

Battled for four hours, the fire finally was controlled after it had burned out the basement and rear of the store, damaged the offices of the Penn Central Light and Power company, and endangered the Mifflin county courthouse, which adjoins the building. The department store building is only five years old and houses the light company office.

Sparks fell on the roof of the nearby court house but were extinguished by firemen. The damage estimated was made by Fire Chief A. N. Yearick.

Call Extra Help At Post Office

Big Christmas Rush Gets Under Way For Postal Workers

THIRTY-FIVE EXTRAS SUMMONED TO AID

Christmas mailing crowds, pouring into the post office here in an unbroken line today filled the building's wide lobby and caused Postmaster Richard A. Steen to summon out a force of 35 extras to augment the heavily-burdened regulars.

Tonight, Postmaster Steen announced this afternoon, "the post-office windows will be kept open until all the crowds are accommodated." Steen set no definite closing hour. Ordinarily, the windows close at 6 o'clock.

Incoming and outgoing mails, officials reported, were moving on schedule. No tie-ups were hindering mail movements.

Over the week end the incoming matter kept the postal clerks working at top speed, and today, into all the districts, city and rural, that mail is being delivered by carriers today. Many of the postmen were accompanied by helpers because of their holiday loads.

Expect Bigger Crowds

While many mailed their Christmas gifts on Saturday afternoon, during the extra hours the post office was open, it was apparent today that that crowd was but a small indication of what is to come.

"Today, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday will be big days" Postmaster Steen predicted.

Out in the mailing room the work in the temporary social security division was moving at a slower pace because all manpower was turned to the task of handling the holiday mail. A force of girls, under competent supervision, proceeded with their account number registration work, but the postal clerks who have been directing that job switched

No Carol Singing At Jameson Hospital Due To Many Serious Cases

Because of the critical condition of a number of patients in the Jameson Memorial hospital, it will be necessary to forego the pleasure of Christmas carols by choirs this year. Fred L. Rentz, president of the board of directors of the hospital, expressed his regret at the necessity of this step and in a statement today said:

"For many years the Christmas season at the Jameson Memorial Hospital has been brightened by the singing of Christmas carols by church choirs and other groups of thoughtful people who wished to bring a ray of sunshine to those unable to be at home for the Christmas celebration.

"Speaking for the directors and myself, I want to say that this thoughtful service by the choirs has been appreciated. It was not only an indication of their interest in the hospital, but it brought a measure of cheer into the sick rooms."

"At this Christmas season there are a number of people in the hospital who are in such critical condition that every care must be given them towards the end that they may be fully restored to health. In their condition things disturb them that in normal health would bring them comfort and pleasure."

"In order that the hospital may be kept as quiet as it is humanly possible, with the idea not hampering the recovery of the patients in question it is necessary to ask that church choirs and other groups not go to the hospital prepared to sing. I regret the necessity of such a request but upon the advice of the physicians attending patients critically ill, it seems to be the only logical thing to do."

Kansas Governor Smiling And Happy As He Enters White House

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—President Roosevelt and Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, opponents in the presidential campaign, spent nearly an hour together today "swapping fishing lies" and talking about their children.

The governor, beset by nearly 50 newspaper reporters as he emerged from the president's office, said he had "a very nice visit."

"We talked about Christmas and about the children," he said. "The president talked about his grandchildren and I talked about my children.

"No, no politics was discussed. We just had a nice visit. The president told me about his trip to South America and I told him about my Florida fishing trip.

"We swapped fishing lies."

A reporter asked if the president by any chance had told him he was sorry he had not won out in the last election.

"He didn't seem to have any such idea," Landon replied with a chuckle.

Setting his hat carefully on the top of his head, the 1936 G.O.P. standard bearer finally waded through the group of reporters and left for his hotel. Tonight, he and the president will make the principal, unreported speeches at the

PENNA. POWER COMPANY WILL EXPEND $2,800,000 ON NEW LOCAL PROJECT

Announcement Is Made Following Meeting Of Board Of Directors At Offices Here At Noon, New Plant To Be Modern Steam Power Plant—Will Be Built In Vicinity of New Castle. Understood Some Orders For Machinery Already Placed.

Members of the Board of Directors of the Pennsylvania Power Company, at a meeting held this morning at the company's general office in this city, authorized the construction of a modern steam power plant. While the exact location of the plant has not yet been selected, it will be in the vicinity of New Castle, it is announced.

The development, including necessary transmission lines and sub-station equipment, will cost in excess of $2,800,000.00 and will be one of the largest construction jobs undertaken in this section for years. It is understood that orders have already been placed for the turbo-generator, boilers, condensers and some of the auxiliary equipment, and it is planned to proceed promptly with the plant construction.

L. B. Round, vice-president and general manager of the company, stated that in line with the company's established policy, local labor and material would be used on the job wherever possible, except where the highly technical nature of the work would require specialists in particular lines, and that in this connection the facilities of the United States Employment Office in New Castle will be used to the fullest extent.

Will Increase Power Supply

The new station, when completed, will supply a large portion of the electric energy requirements of the Pennsylvania Power Company, it is stated. This supply will be augmented by additional power and standby capacity with the Ohio Edison Company. The large generating capacity of the latter company will thus continue to be available at all times, and, in case of emergencies, the Ohio Edison may be called upon to furnish the local company's entire requirements, it is further stated. The arrangement, thus perfected, will retain for this section the advantage of adequate and dependable power supply to present and prospective customers of Pennsylvania Power Company and, at the same time, provide ample emergency capacity which played such an im-

Abandon Hope For Nine Persons On Lost Planes

(International News Service)

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Dec. 21.—Hope was virtually abandoned today of finding alive the nine persons, two of them women, aboard two airliners which disappeared from the skies last week.

Spurred by a $1,000 reward, searchers today intensified their attempts to find the Western Air Express liner with four passengers and a crew of three which has been missing almost a week in the winter-bound mountainous terrain of south-central Utah.

At the same time, fliers reported they had been unable to sight Joe Lovermore and A. A. Haid, experienced Notrhwest Air Lines pilots, who disappeared Friday morning with a mail plane they were flying from Missoula, Mont., to Spokane, Wash.

Announcement of the reward was made by Allan Barrie, vice president of W. A. E. Barrie said the search would continue until the weather forced a stop or the plane was found.

Forecasts of more storms in the territory between Salt Lake City and Milford, Utah, threatened to hinder the search.

MANILA CONGRESS PROCEEDS

Pope's Illness Makes No Change

Go Ahead With Plans For Eucharistic Congress As Scheduled

POPE MAY SHARE EVENT BY RADIO

By FRANK GERVASI
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1936, by International News Service)

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 21.—Despite the serious illness of Pope Pius, the forthcoming Eucharistic Congress will be held in Manila in February as scheduled, International News Service learned today.

Plans for the congress remain unaltered, and no change is foreseen by Vatican circles, even in the event of the Pontiff's death, a semi-official source declared.

Pope To Share Program

The Pope, in fact, has made it known to members of the papal household that he intends to open the congress, as he had planned, with a brief radio address and benediction.

Unless his physicians decree otherwise, a microphone will be brought to the Pontiff's bedside and his words will be broadcast over the powerful Vatican short-wave radio to New York, whence they will be relayed to Manila.

Delegates from all parts of the world are already enroute to the Philippines and millions of dollars have been spent in preparation for the congress. The Pope has made it plain that no matter what happens all this effort and money must not be wasted.

Given Stimulant

In the event of the Pontiff's sudden death, the cardinals participating in the congress will have to rush back home and the congress would be left in charge of the bishops and lesser clergy whose presence would not be required in Rome.

Meanwhile, it was learned that the Pope was given a powerful cardiac stimulant when Dr. Amanti Milani, his personal physician, found the Pontiff's heart action weakened after a pain-wracked, restless night following the bursting of a varicose vein in his paralyzed left leg.

According to reliable sources, the stimulant used was digalene.

It was learned this drug will be administered three to five times daily and will be discontinued after 10 days to avoid over-stimulation.

Beef, pork and lamb livers, not being as tender as veal liver, are best for stewing, braising or baking. Slow cooking will make them tender.

their attention to the more important demands of the mail department.

"This week we need all the expert mail handlers working the mails," the postmaster stated. The girls will keep right on with their registration work—and it's just about half done now."

Two parcel post windows and the stamp window naturally drew the greater crowds today. Clerks speeded their work as fast as they could and officials were confident the later crowds this week will be handled as efficiently.

Five parcel post trucks loaded high with parcels, were operating throughout the city today. All had extra hands aboard to help regular drivers.

Superintendent of Mails David B. Thomas reported this morning that operations were moving right along" and he indicated the 35 extras, a few of whom were put to work Saturday, would be enough to cope with the seasonal mail volume.

Peter F. Stevenson, foreman of carriers at the office, took over active direction of the mail operations temporarily as death struck into the home of Superintendent Thomas. Mr. Thomas' father, David Thomas, died here Sunday.

Officials said today that the post office will probably be kept open at night during the rush period but they released no definite announcement to that effect.

traffic, Superintendent John B. Shaw stated this morning.

There were times, particularly around 10 o'clock last evening, when the gale-swept snow almost blinded the operators of the snow plows, and slowed the work down considerably, but the men stuck to their task and late in the night they were able to breathe easier.

Mr. Shaw stated that reports had been received of some of the secondary roads being completely blocked to traffic, but it is expected to have them all open by mid-afternoon.

Fourteen snow plows and 75 men of the state highway forces, in addition to all care-takers, were on the job all day Sunday.

The snow-removal crews were on the job almost continuously since early Saturday morning, as the snow early Saturday morning was followed by rain and sleet, and all the highways had to be ashed.

About a half foot of snow was recorded here over the week-end, according to the weather observing station figures.

Residents along East Washington street yesterday afternoon found it hard to believe their own eyes Most of the residents shoveled the snow from the sidewalk in front of their home and upon viewing the walk a short time later were surprised to find it again covered with about 3 inches of snow. Many automobiles were noticed half way in and half way out of the driveways to their garage last night, as they were stopped by the drifts in the drives.

SILVER ANNIVERSARY AT J. C. WILLIAMS HOME

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Williams of Walmo entertained with "open house" Saturday afternoon and evening, as a medium of celebrating their silver wedding anniversary, which falls due on December 23. The hours were 2 to 5 in the afternoon and from 7 o'clock on in the evening.

The occasion was distinguished as one of the loveliest celebrations of the season, and the house was beautifully decorated throughout with pine, holly and gorgeous bouquets of choice flowers received from a host of friends and acquaintances.

The dining table was particularly impressive with its wedding party in miniature, built up on an original foundation of tin, illuminated with rows of white burning candles on either side. Above, dangling from the chandelier were many silver bells with blue lights which was most effective and appropriate to the theme of the event.

Pouring at the table at different intervals were the following: Mrs. Harry Gormley, Mrs. F. E. Stitchberry, Mrs. L. A. Wygant, Mrs. Margaret Clarke and Mrs. John L. Moser. Tea, dainty cakes and sandwiches were served to the guests as they filed into the dining room, after having congratulated the guests of honor. At midnight a Dutch lunch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams were married on December 23, 1911, at Pittsburgh, Pa., with the Rev. John R. Thomas, pastor of the Welsh Presbyterian church, officiating. They have lived practically their entire married lives in this city, and are affiliated with the Williams-Cleaveland Insurance company in the Lawrence Savings & Trust building here.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams have a wealth of friends, and this was evident with the array of magnificent silver gifts displayed. Bouquets, telegrams and telephone calls, both long distance and local, from others who were unable to participate, further testified to the high esteem in which they are held.

Those from out of town who shared the happy celebration composed the following: Mrs. Sara Oswalt and sons Wendell and Donald of Middletown, O.; Mr. and Mrs. John L. Moser of Dayton, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dean and daughters Betty Jane and Joan of Bellevue, Pa.; Mrs. Margaret Clarke, Wallace Clarke, Robert Divens and Myra, all of Uniontown, Pa.; Sam Leight and Ray Hetrick of Punxsutawney, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. T. P. GROUP B.-O. HAS HOLIDAY EVENT

Most successful was the Christmas celebration held Friday afternoon in the American Legion home by members of the C. T. P. Group of the B. & O. when they met for their annual gift exchange.

The Yule season was much in evidence with the bright colored decorations used throughout. The dining tables where lunch was served at a suitable time, were cleverly appointed with miniature trees at either end. Novelty hand-moulded candy animal favors, the work of Mrs. J. F. Titus, president, marked the guests' places.

The local assembly was particularly honored in having as their guest Mrs. I. L. Harper of St. Louis, Mo., who was later given a cordial welcome into the organization as a new member. She gave an inspiring talk, and spoke words of appreciation for the honor bestowed upon her.

Mrs. Harper and her husband will make their permanent home in this city, he having been transferred here as general foreman of the B. & O., taking the place left by D. L. Booth, who was transferred to Willard, O. They will take up residence in the Frew apartments on Moody avenue after the first of the year.

Bingo filled in the remaining hours, prizes going to Mrs. Ralph Fisher, Mrs. E. M. Johnston, Mrs. D. H. Warnock and Mrs. William Morgan.

They must be called by Monday, December 28.

It took place at June Harris' home on Williams street. The Christmas story was told by the teacher. Piano solos were given by June Harris, Florence and Clara Scriven and Audrey Cromie. A series of games was enjoyed and prizes were won by Thelma Frey, Florence Scriven, Verna Bellancin and Bobby Harris. A gift exchange among the girls was also a feature of the evening's entertainment.

A basket of lovely gifts was presented to the teacher, Miss Laura Bell.

Lunch was served to 18 by the hostess' mother, Mrs. Emma Harris, assisted by Miss Bell.

Members with their families will participate and the menu will be served at 6 o'clock, with each taking the usual provisions. Chairlady in charge is Cecelia Young, and Myrtle Hildebrand, is hostess. The regular chapter meeting will follow at 8 o'clock in the East Lodge room.

LAURA MAE BOULDEN WEDS VERNON LONG

A quiet wedding of interest to many took place Friday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock when Laura Mae Boulden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Boulden of Adams street, became the bride of Vernon Long, son of Mrs. M. Long of Montgomery, Ala.

The ceremony was performed in the home of the Rev. T. J. Woodrow, retired minister, on the Wilmington road, and he used the single ring service. The bride was attired in a pale blue street length dress, with shoulder bouquet to harmonize. Her accessories matched, and she had as her only attendant, Mildred Fleeger. She wore a dress patterned on similar lines of the same shade, and a shoulder corsage.

George Boulden, brother of the bride, served as best man.

A wedding supper for members of the immediate family supplemented the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. Pastel colors were used in the appointments throughout, and the traditional tiered wedding cake surmounted by a miniature bride and groom, adorned the center. Lighted candles completed the arrangement.

The couple left Sunday on a tenday motor trip to Alabama, where they will visit with his mother, who was unable to make the journey here. Upon their return, they will reside temporarily at the Bouldon home on Adams street, later going to housekeeping.

Mrs. Long is a graduate of the New Castle High school and she has had two years nurses training at the Jameson Memorial hospital. He is associated with the B. and O. railroad here.

SEWING CIRCLE HAS ELECTION OFFICERS

At the home of Mrs. Raymond Peluso, on Winter avenue, Friday evening, the 1936 Sewing Circle gathered.

An election of officers took place with these results: Mrs. Peluso was re-elected president; Mrs. Anthony Peluso, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Andrew Angelo, News reporter.

There was an exchange of gifts and bingo was played, the awards going to Mrs. Victor Colella and Mrs. Joseph Cugini. The girls sang Christmas carols before being seated at a beautifully decorated table where Christmas tones predominated. A small tree, brightly lighted, was used for the centerpiece.

Lunch was delicious, the hostess being aided in serving by Mrs. Thomas Fontana. The next meeting will be on January 7, at the home of Mrs. Louis Ross, Taylor street.

BIRTHDAY PARTY AT CHRISTMAS TIME

It's rather tough on the kiddies to have a birthday double up with Christmas—either one a real occasion typified with gifts—but this fact didn't make any difference this year to Shirley Himebaugh of Brooklyn avenue, for her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Himebaugh, had a nice party for her last Friday evening.

There were about 25 young people in the group which assembled at Shirley's home at 7 o'clock, and from then on until 9 o'clock, everybody had a merry time. Games and kiddies' contests kept them occupied until time for lunch, which was attractively served with the assistance of Betty Jane and Mary Lou Himebaugh. Colors of the season were developed in the menu and also brightened the home to create a Christmas atmosphere.

Shirley received a collection of beautiful presents.

Hoover Class Dinner

Members of the Mrs. Frank Hoover's Sunday school class of the First Christian church, gathered in her home on Hemlock street, recently, for their regular meeting. This was in the form of a tureen dinner which was served promptly at 6:30 by Mrs. Hoover, assisted by her daughter, Mina.

The table about which the guests gathered was beautifully decorated in Christmas fashion, and the only light which was used during the dinner came from several long white tapering candles placed in the center of the table, surrounding an artistically adorned and lighted Christmas tree.

Later evening hours were spent with a number of games and a short business meeting was held. The next regular meeting of the class will be held during the last week in January.

Acme Club

Mrs. Alvin Ferree very delightfully entertained members of the Acme club when they gathered in her home on a recent date.

At noon, the hostess, assisted by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Clifford Ferree and Mrs. Donald Ferree, served an appetizing dinner. Places were laid for 15 guests who, after partaking of the tasty viands, joined in a Christmas program which consisted of readings and recitations, appropriate scripture and singing of Yuletide hymns.

A gift exchange followed, the guests having a pleasant time with informal pastimes. Special guests were Mrs. Clifford Ferree, Mrs. Donald Ferree, of New Castle, Miss Zella Like, of Evans City, house guest of Miss Estella Liken.

ANNIVERSARY EVENT OBSERVED AT DINNER

One of the loveliest dinners of the season took place Friday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Leonard, on Northview avenue, when they entertained in honor of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Green, who celebrated their 42nd wedding anniversary.

Covers were arranged for 18 guests. The bride's table was decorated with a beautiful wedding cake, topped with a tiny bride and groom. Yuletide decorations were carried throughout the home.

Concluding dinner, the bride and groom were given a handsome gift to convey felicitations of the group.

Mrs. Green will be remembered as Mae Sweesy, of West Middlesex. She and Mr. Green were married in 1894 by Rev. R. Mealy, former pastor of King's Chapel M. E. church.

Coming For Holidays

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. McGoun will have as house guests in their home on Moody avenue, over the holiday season, members of their family, some of whom have been married within the past year or so, and live out of town.

In the group will be a new son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Montgomery of Philadelphia, a son and new daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. McGoun, Jr., of Albany. The other son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James C. McGoun and little daughter of this city will complete the immediate family group.

Celma Hazlett Class

Celma Hazlett Bible class of the Christian Missionary Alliance will have the annual Christmas party this evening at 7:30 in the home of Mrs. Miller, 1003 Boroline street.

The committee consists of Mrs. John Wink, teacher; Mrs. Paul Grossman, president; Mrs. Anna Dodds, chairman entertainment.

LUNCHEON-SPOON AT MISS MORGAN'S

Five tables of cards were of interest to Luncheon-Spoon club associates, following a tasty luncheon at one o'clock Saturday, in the East Grant street home of Miss Jennie Morgan.

Miss Mary Pearson asked the group to be her guests in the Castleton for the next gathering on January 8.

WAYWARD YOUTH

SERIOUSNESS of the problem of juvenile delinquency is emphasized in a report just issued by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, headed by J. Edgar Hoover.

This report indicates that 17 out of every 100 persons arrested during the first nine months of 1936 were under 21 years of age. The conclusion was reached through careful examination of 343,132 arrest records of persons whose fingerprints were forwarded to Washington by state and municipal law enforcement agencies.

What is more, the bureau shows that approximately one-sixth of the persons apprehended in the same period had records of arrest previous to attaining their majority.

Obviously, the situation is a challenge to juvenile courts, parole agencies, educators, clergymen and parents. Lawlessness will never be curbed so long as mere boys in their 'teens comprise so large a portion of the criminal fraternity.

WINTER DRIVING

In the earlier years of automobile driving, people used commonly to put their cars in storage for the winter, except in some favored localities. Today people suffer so much inconvenience from inability to use their cars, that winter driving is the rule, even in localities where there are heavy snows.

The storms of winter bring road perils. A sleety storm usually brings reports of numerous accidents, with cars slipping out of control and threatening life and limb. There isn't anything much more dangerous than riding in a car which won't obey its wheel. If the driver is a speeder, he is not a good risk for an insurance company at such times.

RUSSIAN DEMOCRACY

How Democratic is Russia's much-heralded "democratic" constitution?

The answer must be decidely negative if one is to accept an interpretation inadvertently provided by Nicolai Krylenko, commissar for justice.

"Those who want to restore the capitalist system," says Comrade Krylenko, "will get from our constitution neither freedom of the press nor of speech".

The Russian people, in other words, will be perfectly free to express themselves on politico-economic issues so long as they support the Soviet regime.

From the American standpoint, that kind of democracy smacks too much of dictatorship and suppression.

Muscovite freedom, under the constitution soon to be adopted, will scarcely ring in an appealing way.

LEVIATHAN'S LAST DAYS

The Leviathan, which may be sold to the Army as a transport or become an auxiliary craft of the Navy or be sent to the scrap heap before long, according to news dispatches, is not "just another ship" to those who have voyaged on the one-time queen of the ocean as passengers or American soldiers. For what other vessel flying the Stars and Stripes has had such a tragic and colorful history

It is just twenty-three years since the huge Vaterland slid down the ways at Hamburg as Germany's challenge for the supremacy of the seas, the world's largest liner. She was the first of three floating mammoths. Her sister ships were the Imperator, now the Berengaria, and the Bismarck, later the Majestic.

Two round trips and a run back to New York and the Vaterland's career under the German flag was ended. Driven from the seas by British guns, the Vaterland was interned in New York harbor. She lay there for two and a half years gathering barnacles, with a German crew in charge.

Then when the United States entered the war the Vaterland, renamed the Leviathan, was turned into a transport. The American repair men found the machinery a wreck. Two months were spent in tracing and relabeling the electric and steam lines on which the tags had been reshuffled. First official report said the damaged vessel could never be made safely ship-shape.

But in time the "impossible" job was completed. Yankee ingenuity and pertinacity had triumphed. It is doubtful whether the full meed of credit has ever been accorded these Navy workmen. And then the Leviathan, as good as new from steam to stern, no longer a luxurious floating hotel, but a floating barracks, steamed out to sea.

In nineteen round trips she carried 185,000 soldiers—a world's record. On one voyage she outran German torpedoes with 12,000 Americans aboard.

There were 13,558 persons aboard when the Leviathan steamed up New York harbor on her last home-coming voyage as a transport. The final chapter was her reconditioning, after a prolonged and expensive tie-up, as a passenger ship.

And so the Leviathan, which has long lagged superfluous on the stage, is about to make her farewell bow and retire to an inconspicuous role, though still in the nation's service which she once so conspicuously adorned.

Yale professor pleads for lighter novels. Yes, the current variety weighs entirely too much.

If Edward Has A Son.

Get Thin, But Slowly.

To Lead, Sit Still.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

"MRS SIMPSON purchases villa on the north coast of Africa, looking out on the blue Mediterranean for her 'royal honeymoon' with the former king of England."

Here you see the capable young American woman; she buys the honeymoon villa; if she married an American she would have expected him to buy it.

This incident helps to explain how Duke Edward came to rely on the Baltimore girl.

THE FORMER English king Edward in his "instrument of abdication" declared his "irrevocable determination to renounce the throne" for himself and his descendants.

All very fine now, but suppose Edward should have a son, and the son should grow up, a man of power and ambition, as he might, with an American mother. He would by inheritance be the rightful occupant of the throne of England, and might reasonably say that his father could not deprive him of his right before he was even born.

That might be embarrassing if, in troublous times a weak English king or a nervous queen were on the throne.

JAPAN SENDS to the Mediterranean two battle cruisers, with a small fleet of destroyers, stating politely that the ships are sent for "purposes of training."

They are certainly not sent for any fight: Japan is too wise for that. Perhaps young Japanese officers, carefully selected for their intelligence, are sent to see for themselves just how idiotic western peoples can be even cutting the throats of their own brothers, as in Spain.

On returning to Japan, the young Japanese gentleman will be able to tell their compatroits "it should not be difficult to clean up that so-called 'western civilization' after it shall have had a few more bloody and costly wars."

UNION SEAMEN on strike without the approval of their union and union longshoremen working by the hour, and tired of being kept idle by the seamen's unauthorized strike, come to blows, 12 hurt in one fight. Mr. Ryan, head of the longshoremen, tells Mr. Curran, leader of the striking seamen:

"If you want a fight you can have it."

This development in organized labor recalls fights between old oil companies and other competitive business organizations. They are expensive.

THE SMALL BOY LEARNS TO LIE

THE SMALL boy has learned how to lie.

Not very expertly, to be sure.... But he has learned how to take a plain fact and turn it inside out or upside down, with words.....he has gained a new power over this little environment of his....Picked up a shred of dark wisdom.

He went into the garden and broke some branches from a geranium.

When his mother saw the broken plant and asked him if he was the one that broke the flower, he said, "No, I didn't throw that flower over the fence, I didn't do that."....Thus convicting himself, because, until he denied throwing the flower over the fence, no one had thought of looking for it there.

No great fuss was made over the fibbling....After all, why make a small boy feel so important , why place so much emphasis on that lie, on this little human being's discovery that it is possible, with words, to make black seem white, or white black.

There are many kinds of power in the world, and he'll be learning how to use them. He'll learn the power of fair words, of a smile at the right time, of a growl, of a frown, even of tears, and perhaps of silence...If his mind is quick enough, he'll learn all the tricks, devices, levers and pulleys by which some people get what they want in this complicated world.

And, unless he learns that a lie gets a man only a superficial, a temporary gain in this world, he'll be running into many a heartache before he's through....He'll have heartaches anyway; I know no method that can shield him from them. But I hope he learns to take them without fudging and ducking and cringing and whining, I hope he does learn that the devil is a sissy, and only the sissy lies to avoid punishment—and only the coward "works" the angles" to avoid what's properly coming to him.

And if he doesn't lie, we hope he isn't a little prig about his honesty. Whatever he does, whatever he becomes I hope he takes his share of fortune in his stride, and does not give himself too much credit....Because of all the human species, the human prig is the most annoying. Bible thought .....

We spend our years as a tale that is told.—Psalm 90:9.

The ex-king of England threatens to get married outside the church. If he will come over to this country there are a lot of marrying squires who will marry him for nothing just for the advertising and might give him a little present to boot.

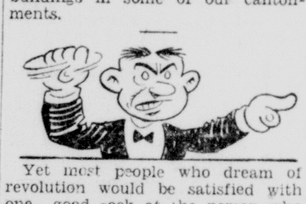
If one had no particular place to go, being in jail at Christmas time wouldn't be so tough. There would be plenty of eats anyhow.

And by the way, speaking of women generally, some of the best conducted homes in this country are run exclusively by women and they raise wonderful families also. Of course, there are exceptions where men think they are boss.

Sunflowers seed are popular in Russia as a food, and the oil is used for salads and in making butter substitutes.

Most criminals are yellow. This is demonstrated by the way they squak and plead guilty to everything when they are caught. We know lots of hard-boiled birds who are not criminals and they never squawk under any circumstances.

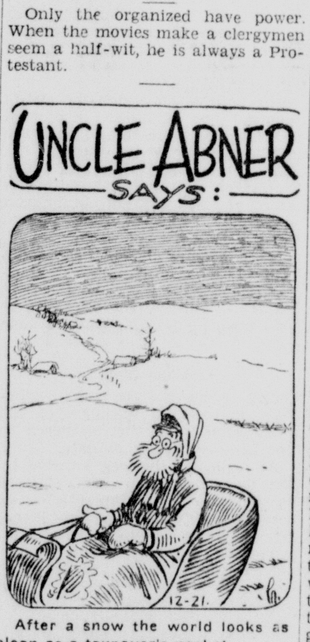
We hear and read about a cantonment, but I wonder if we know what it means just to build one. Here is some idea: It requires 43,-7,000,000 feet of lumber, 8,938 doors 224,909 square feet of wire screening, 20 carloads of nails, 30,300 electric lamp sockets, 561,792 feet of telephone wire, 179 miles of piping and 20 miles of roads. There are 1371 buildings in some of our cantonments.



Yet most people who dream of revolution would be satisfied with one good sock at the person who high-hatted them.

We noticed a sentence in The News society column a few days ago which read "Helping Santa Claus select Christmas gifts is now the national pastime and national problem." It is a problem to select the right gift as one might have it thrown at him when he presents it. Never give a horse shoe for a Christmas gift.

Only the organized have power. When the movies make a clergymen seem a half-wit, he is always a Protestant.



After a snow the world looks as clean as a taxpayer's pocket.

That city feller a-boardin' over at Seth Peabody's is worried about his incubator. He's had it two weeks and it ain't laid a egg yit.

It always has been our ambition to get acquainted with a real Santa Claus. If we ever meet the real thing we will give him a nice present.

Once upon a time the earth was flattened only at the poles.

We have decided not to razz Santa Claus any more as we have received a lot of nice gifts already. We think, however, razzing does some good.

A hick town is a place where there is nothing to do on a rainy day except cuss your rheumatism.

Most persons have no time to bother with their enemies, 'cause they are too busy.

No matter how pretty a movie actress is in the face if she don't have a good figure and pretty legs she's a dud. It don't matter how he actors look and some are terrible looking.

THERE'S SUCH A BIG DIFFERENCE

1. The "boss" drives his men—the leader coaches them.
2. The "boss" depends on authority—the leader depends on goodwill.
3. The "boss" inspires fear—the leader inspires enthusiasm.
4. The "boss" says "I"—the leader says "We."
5. The "boss" assigns the slavery—the leader sets the pace.
6. The "boss" says, "Get here on time"—the leader beats 'em to it.
7. The "boss" fixes blame for breakdowns—the leader fixes the breakdowns.
8. The "boss" knows how to do it—the leader shows how.
9. The "boss" makes work a drudgery—the leader makes it interesting.
10. The "boss" says "Go"—the leader says "Let's go."

In Italy, Russia and Germany, there isn't much fuss among the unruly birds. The minute one starts anything his head is off before he can gather up any help or sympathizers. Sometimes that is a good thing as disturbers cause people the loss of much money and peace of mind and it's mostly of selfish nature what they do. As a rule they don't give a hang for humanity in general.

Storing up useless knowledge is just like putting a lot of junk in the attic.

Fudge was really a man's name, an old sea captain in the sixteenth century, who used to come home from his trips with such fantastic tales and lies that it became a byword when a sailor lied to say, "Oh, you Fudge it."

You ought to have four legs, not two. Did you know that? You had four once. Here is the reasoning. An old rat is the shrewdest of all animals—almost impossible to catch. His judgment is said to be 100 per cent perfect while that of a man is not above seventy per cent. Why? Because man walks on his hind legs according to Dr. Robert T. Morris, which man was never intended to do. Man's anatomy and physiology were designed for an all-fours posture. As soon as he taught himself to stand erect all his "plumbing" began to give trouble. His digestive apparatus had to work uphill. He was troubled with hernia. His ankles and foot arches had to try to adapt themselves to the new strains his brain to work overtime to master the new problems presented to it. And the human mechanism has not even yet perfected itself. Also, according to Doctor Morris, wars on quarrels are all due to the revolutionary idea that came to some ancester of ours, to get up on his hind legs.

A bird in Johnstown got from three to seven years for sending a poisoned cake to his estranged family. He did not have to send a poisoned cake. He could have had some bum cake baker make him one and it would have fixed the whole family if they had eaten it. Some cakes are even good to use as a club.

There should be a law penalizing those who refuse to pay their school taxes. The way to get at most of those delinquents would be to publish their names. Over fifty thousand dollars is the amount of unpaid school taxes in New Castle just now. The school board should enforce the law and make those who can pay. Go up to the city building and see some of the names of those who have not paid. You'd be surprised and scandalized.

Mrs. Newlywed, anxiously examining tin of condensed milk: "You're quite sure this is from the evaporated cows that are contented?"

We have noticed when people take long trips on airplanes their names and addresses and names of relatives are taken before they start. There's a reason for that. About all the relatives are remembering the names of those taking the trip.

DEAR MISS MARKEL—I have a close friend who has been in mourning for six months. Would it be improper for me to send her a Christmas card? H. M

Answer—Christmas cards may, with absolute propriety, be sent to those in mourning.

There should, however, be no wish for joy or merriment but rather a wish for happiness and hope for the coming year.

Those in mourning may, if they wish, send out Christmas cards. On the contrary, if they do not feel so inclined, they need not bother. Everyone will understand and no one will feel slighted by such an omission of a usual custom.

Dear Miss Markel—My employer is most thoughtful and kind to me and I would like to send him a Christmas card. Should I address it to him only or to both him and his wife, whom I have never met but whom I have talked with on the telephone. Also, how should I sign it. He always calls me "Miss Jones." M. J.

Answer—Address your card to both your employer and his wife, even though you have never met her. Sign your name: "Mary Jones," and not "Miss Jones."

Wheeler Boom Is Started.
Rail Probe Gives Spotlight.
Lowenthal Is Behind Scenes.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Columnist

POLITICAL writers soon may be sitting up in suprprise over the senate rail investigating committee. Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, the chairman, has been uncovering such startling facts that he has hit the first pages in spite of the King-Mrs. Simpson incident. Trully enough, he took the most sensational of rail financing cases first—that of the Van Sweringens'. But he has developed it even more dramatically than appeared possible. After all, columns of figures are columns of figures to the majority of the public. But these Van Sweringen figures have become tense lines in a drama.

In brief, Senator Wheeler has got into the center of the spotlight, even prior to the opening of congress. That may mean he will try to build himself up as a leader of the progressive cause for the next few years.

And, ergo, that may mean he may be conceded to be the most available man for the Democrats to nominate in 1940.

He is considerably more of a progressive — or further to the left, whichever way you look at it—than President Roosevelt. He not only has a farm following, but a labor following as well—and, in monetary beliefs, he stands well with the Coughlin-Townsend-Lemke groups.

He does NOT stand will in Wall Street.

HEADLINED

Wheeler's investigation is achieving such headlines as these in large city papers:

"Van Sweringens beat law is charge. Wheeler tries to force inquiry witnesses to admit some deals were fraudulent."

"'Ghost' bank deposit probed. Missouri Pacific carried credit to aid in obtaining RFC loan, Wheeler charges."

"Sale by Van Sweringens just a loan, probers told. Wheeler says $10,500,000 Missouri Pacific deal was to 'get around' charter. Cities buy-back option."

"RFC chairman also accuses Missouri Pacific railroad. Jones asserts legal action was put up to attorney general in 1935. False statement charged. Senate witness says statute of limitations prevented suit over alleged hidden debt."

"RFC is duped in Missouri Pacific loans, Jones asserts. Discovered too late for prosecution."

(In other words, Senator Wheeler intimated again and again, through his line of inquiry, that the Van Sweringen manipulators ought to be in jail for falsifying their books.)

When William P. Potter, chairman of the board of the Morgan-dominated Guaranty Trust company of New York gave in detail the part played by Guaranty in the financing of the Allegheny corporation, former top-holding company of the Van Sweringen system, he defended sale of securities, on which the public lost millions, by asserting that the government indulged in some of the same practices with certain New Deal agencies.

But Senator Wheeler was quick with a retort, which again made the headlines: "The government made some mistakes, but it did not take money from widows and orphans."

Of another Van Sweringen holding company, Senator Wheeler remarked, "It's just another company with which to get around the law" — and that, too, made the headlines.

More dramatic scenes could have been staged if O. P. Van Sweringen had not died a few weeks ago. At that, at the end of his career, he was nothing more than a hired man of the Morgan banks. Thus J. P. Morgan, himself, may be the chief actor.

BEHIND THE SCENES

Behind the scenes of the investigation looms the real dramatist. He is Max Lowenthal, counsel for the committee. Lowenthal is more than that. He is a brillant and wealthy young lawyer, a New Dealer of considerable force and ability who has stayed in the background while more dazzling figures have cavorted on the New Deal stage—and got the hook.

Lowenthal is not likely to get the hook. He has industriously bided his time, and has seen to it that others get the credit for his talent and ability.

He now has become so valuable that he has become the chief adviser of the progressives in Washington. Constantly alert, nothing seems to escape him.

Wheeler, La Follette and Norris seem to depend on him. The New York railroad bankers probably would like to pay him a handsome salary to be their adviser—but, instead, he will stay in Washington and annoy them.

CRANKMIRE DOES A WOMAN A FAVOR

Crankmire was grumpy. There's no doubt of that.
A woman asked him how he liked
her hat.
He took one look and scornfully replied:
"Twould better serve upon a scarecrow tied!
The thieving birds would instantly take wing
Beholding such a ghastly, frightful thing!"

The woman turned upon him, not to smile:
"I'd have you know, sir, 'tis the newest style
They told me 'twas becoming where I bought it."
"You asked for my opinion. Now you've got it!"
Said Crankmire coldly. "What I say, I mean;
That is the ugliest hat I've ever seen."

Old Crankmire lost her friendship on the spot.
The angry lady told him what was what.
People would rather flatterers have about
Than honest friends who blurt the truth right out.
But Crankmire chuckles: "Since we had our spat,
She looks much better in a different hat."

Today's Yesterdays—Dec. 21, 1620—Five days after the 160-ton Mayflower dropped anchor at the bleak spot that John Smith had named Plymouth 12 years before, some of the Pilgrims landed. Four months were to pass before all left the Mayflower and even then some hung back until the master of the ship, Christopher Jones, insisted they unload and give him leave.

The captain was not a Pilgrim nor devout. At the first sight of land in November, the Pilgrims had knelt down and offered up thanks. But the captain of the first ship to cross the wide Atlantic alone had the idea: "Yes, God is above—but I sail the ship."

You've wrong if you believe the Pilgrims landed first at Plymouth. Members of the Mayflower's company first went ashore on Cape Cod near the present Provincetown, on November 19. They called this land Virginia, which they thought it was part of. New England was then the Pacific Coast; Sir Francis Drake had named the latter that 40 years before!

Millions of both white and negroes can brag of Mayflower ancestry, if they wish. On its second trip to the New World the ship brought a load of slaves. A Mayflower passenger could be expected to have 200,000 descendents today.

New Labor Group Now Organized

Formed At Meeting Of Steel Workers In Pittsburgh Sunday

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 21.—With a formal declaration of war upon the "company union" plan of collective bargaining and unanimous endorsement of John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization, a new labor group, the "CIO Representatives Council," today injected itself into the fight of steel workers for increased wages and shorter working hours.

Representing a consolidation of "progressive" employe representatives from approximately 42 steel companies between Chicago and the Atlantic coast, the council was formed at a meeting here yesterday.

Coming upon the heels of regional meetings in Pittsburgh, Youngstown and Harrisburg, the conference, with 244 delegates in attendance, was the forerunner of a national convention of "progressive" representatives, to be held in the near future.

Personnel of the board of governors, who will decide upon the time and place of the national convention, to be held sometime in the spring, is as follows:

Pittsburgh district joint representatives council: William Garrity, Charles Scharbo, Homestead, and Joseph Barron, McKeesport.

Youngstown-Cleveland district council: Thomas Moore, Youngstown; David Clemens, New Castle, and Thomas Black, Youngstown.

Eastern district representatives council: Joseph P. Verbos, Sparrows Point, Md.; John D. Ramsey, Bethlehem, Pa., and Joseph McCabe, Johnstown.

Williamson Tries For Route Numbers

President Of Franklin Highway Association Pressing For Designations

In a letter to Thomas M. Boyle, manager of the Castleton Hotel, John H. Williamson president of the Benjamin Franklin Highway Association, states that he is endeavoring to get the route numbers of the federal highway system up on the highway. Through this district the highway is marked with "U. S. 224." He hopes to have the numbers up through Ohio and thus insure more traffic over the Ben Franklin.

YULETIDE PARTY IN R. U. CLUB ROOMS

In their club rooms on South Jefferson street Sunday evening, the R. U. club held a Christmas party which topped all previous holiday parties.

Dinner at 7:30, a savory ravioli menu, was the first procedure, and when hungry appetites had been appeased, the girls had an informal evening. During the course of the meal, the club through the vice president, Mrs. Clotilda Ross, presented Mrs. Margaret Cheroi, the president, with a beautiful gift to express deep appreciation for her leadership in the past four or five years, since the organization was effected.

Mrs. Cherol responded graciously, voicing gratitude for cooperation during her term of office, and expressing the hope that it will continue throughout the new year. Mrs. Helen Tuscano, spoke, thanking her aides last night in making the affair a success. Assistants were: Mrs. Helen Tuscano, Mrs. Margaret Santia, Mrs. Marie Bordonaro, Mrs. Rose Copple, Mrs. Helen Richards, Misses Tina and Elvira Sorto, Mrs. Clotilda Ross, Mrs. Clara Biondi.

A lighted Christmas tree graced the table center and at the places were miniature Santa Claus figures. Before beginning their repast, the assemblage sang carols in the glow of the many candles which also helped decorate the long tables.

Among the contests furnishing amusement was a donkey game in which Mrs. Clara Biondi and Mrs. Marie Scungio were adjudged the most skillful.

Santa was impersonated by Josephine Copple, who distributed gifts which caused additional excitement. Other games were played later, prizes in which went to Mrs. Clara Biondi, Mrs. Grace Sorton, Mrs. Helen Tuscano, Mrs. Rose Tedesko and Mrs. Mary Biondi.

CHOIR MEMBERS' YULETIDE PARTY

A big plump snow man, grinning at a big Christmas tree which stood in the living room at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carrol Forrest on West Washington street, Friday evening, turned out to be a handsome floor lamp, in disguise, which was presented to Mrs. Wendell Minnigh, chorister, by members of the Wesley M. E.

The gift expressed appreciation of the group, numbering 16, for the splendid work Mrs. Minnigh has done during the past season. The occasion was a Christmas party held in connection with the regular monthly meeting of the choir and was thoroughly enjoyed, mirth and happiness hold sway amid a setting in keeping with the season.

Refreshments were served in the dining room at a table prettily arranged. Tiny Santa Claus favors marked the places. A Christmas scene in miniature, centered the table, a small tree surrounded by presents, a group of children, a Santa, and a drummer boy who beat his drum vigorously to announce "lunch ready."

Gifts exchanged at the table brought forth shouts and applause as they were mostly of a humorous nature.

Previous to the social part of the evening, the customary business session was conducted by the president, Tom Grittie. Special guests were Rev. Minnigh and William Dibbley. Various games were enjoyed until a late hour.

THE TOWNSMEN HOLD DANCE AT FIELD CLUB

Launching a special series of dances to be conducted from time to time throughout the winter, The Townsmen, a civic group here, entertained at the New Castle Field club Saturday evening, at a most successful affair which interested a group of young couples numbering nearly eighty.

A program of splendid music was provided by a local orchestra, led by Ermel E. Branstetter, striking up the first selection at 9:30 o'clock. The proceeds realized will be used for the underprivileged boys of New Castle.

The committee in charge, composed Daniel H. Treloar, Jr., chairman, Don Thompson, Robert Winter, Alfred H. Owens and Frank Clary.

Kum-Join-Us Party

The annual Christmas party of the Kum-Join-Us class of the Croton Avenue M. E. church took place Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Edith Shaffer, Court street.

A short business meeting preceded the period of games. A toothsome lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Ann Cranmer and Mrs. Mary Black.

Special guests were Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Hauger.

SHENANGO CHAPTER OFFICERS YULE PARTY

Mrs. Gula Hess proved a charming hostess on a recent evening in her home on Spruce street, when she received as guests, the worthy matron of Shenango Chapter, No. 333, O. E. S., Mrs. Lucille Falls and her corps of officers, for their annual Christmas party.

At 6:30 o'clock, the assemblage numbering eighteen, sat down at individual tables which were colorfully decorated in the season's suggestions. A tall lighted red waxen taper adorned the center of each, and novelty favors were given the participants. On the large dining table where the many tureens were placed, was a cleverly made Santa Claus in a white sleigh being drawn by four silver reindeer, which claimed much attention.

An exchange of gifts followed, and at this time, Mrs. Hess presented Mrs. Falls with two lovely gifts from the officers. The latter responded in a most gracious manner.

The remaining hours were spent informally with cards, prizes for bridge going to Mrs. Myrtle Rohrer; for 500, Mrs. Martha Berkheimer, and in other games. Mrs. Beatrice Davy received the token.

Mrs. Hess had as her associate hostesses, Mrs. Lena Weber and Miss Charlotte Taylor, who assisted throughout the evening.

BURTONITES MEET AT KEPHART HOME

Burtonites gathered in the home of Mrs. Theodore Kephart, Grandview avenue, Saturday evening, for their regular business and social meeting. The meeting was formerly scheduled for the home of Mrs. Frank Hoag, Pittsburgh, but due to inclement weather, the place of meeting was changed. However, a meeting will be held in the Hoag home in the near future.

During the evening, the playing of 500 and bingo was the main pastime, with prizes being awarded to Mrs. George Edwards and Ray Huling. As this was the annual Christmas party for the group, an exchange of gifts featured.

Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Hazel Miller and Mrs. Frank Hoag. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Albert Pilshaw, West Washington street extension. This will be in the form of a watch party and will be held New Year's Eve.

Christmas Trees In City Building

One Installed At City Cerk's Office; Police To Have Tree

Christmas trees are making their appearance in city hall, the first to be installed then decorated, having been put up by C. Ed. Brown, city clerk. It is on the desk in his office.

Police Chief Ralph Criswell today sent Detectives John Young and John Moore on a scouting trip and when they returned they had a Christmas tree which will be placed at the police station.

There was a Christmas tree at the police station during the past several years. It was nicely decorated and no doubt the same situation will prevail this week.

First U. P. Will Have Christmas Program Tuesday

West Side School Pupils To Give Nativity Play At Church Tuesday Night

Something unusual in the way of Christmas programs is planned for Tuesday night by the Sabbath school of the First United Presbyterian church on Clenmore boulevard at Albert street.

Seventy pupils from West Side school have been invited to present, at 7:45 o'clock, the Nativity play that has been given so successfully at the school during the past several years.

Twenty-five will have the principal parts in the presentation and the others will form the chorus. It is a very impressive program and promises to bring a large crowd of the church people together.

This is the annual Christmas entertainment of First U. P. church.

Presents Reach Former King

Duke Of Windsor Not Forgotten By Friends At Christmas Time

MOST OF GIFTS TO BE GIVEN TO POOR

By ALFRED TYRNAUER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

VIENNA, Dec. 21.—A campaign by Austrian monarchists to keep the Duke of Windsor permanently in Austria was under way today in the wake of many monarchists' meetings in Vienna and other cities heartily acclaiming the former British king.

Through a special address to the duke by Col. Gustaf Wolff, their leader, Austrian monarchists expressed their sympathy with the exking and assured him they regarded him as a welcome royal guest whose presence enchanced the hopes of monarchists in this country.

Meanwhile, Edward at the Castle Enzesfeld where he is a guest of Baron Eugene Rothschild received numerous Christmas presents from members of the royal family in England.

From Queen Mother Mary he received a small oil painting of herself and the late King George V in a beautiful ivory frame. This and the other presents were brought by a special courier from London.

The duke spent Sunday playing golf and then writing letters.

And, it was learned, he got a hearty laugh when he received a report of the activities of a smartly dressed man said to have been posing as his secretary.

This man, according to the report, "purchased" a villa for Edward in Dubrovnik on the Dalmatian coast and after receiving a temporary loan of about $500—with which he said he wanted to pay duty on the duke's luggage—disappeared.

This man was later identified as Rudolf Vodopivetz. He was arrested by Austrian police.

Meanwhile, Edward again is receiving many Christmas parcels and letters from admirers in Engand and the United States. He has expressed the wish that a great part of these gifts, especially eatables, be distributed among the poor of Enzesfeld.

ly the Adams Doctrine, George H. Barnes, Philadelphian who is one of the most interesting of our many helpful correspondents, contributes: "The Doctrine was the product of the brain of John Quincy Adams, the Secretary of State. The United States had emerged victorious over the most powerful of the European governments, in the war of 1812 and was both respected and feared by the other governments. Secretary Adams sensed the difficulties that might arise, if the Holy Alliance gave to Spain the aid it desired and he determined to forestall such action. It is doubtful if Monroe could have formulated the Doctrine as he was, apparently, the mental equal of Fillmore, Pierce and Harding."

We'll take issue with Mr. Barnes that the U. S. emerged victorious from the war of 1812. See this column for Dec. 24.

Thomas Paine held high offices in the United States and French governments, without being a citizen of either country.

The original way of using coffee was to crush the berries and eat them in the form of a paste. It was first employed for beverage purposes in the making of a wine!

AT A G A. R. post meeting, in Kings County, New York, six Civil War veterans turned up all past 90, one 95, all "spry." Americans that would like to live past ninety, will note that all of these survivors of the Civil War are thin men, no fat ones. Fat gives the heart too much work to do; shortens life.

TRUE, YOU read in Shakespeare's Julius Caesar:

Let me have men about me that are fat,
Sleek-headed men, and such, as sleep o'nights!

But while fat men may "sleep o'nights," they go to grave earlier than thin men.

Lose pounds and gain years.

Life insurance experts have long said "The thin bury the fat," but do not try to get thin suddenly, that is more dangerous than being fat. Take off fat slowly, as you put it on slowly.

Rose from every meal hungry; that will do it. Five minutes later you will not be hungry.

CONGRESSMAN FISH of New York wants members of the Republican committee to abdicate that a liberal Republican party may be built up.

Does anybody imagine that a "liberal" Republican party could have held back the political Johnstown flood last November?

If the Republican party turns liberal now, it may find in 1940 that it has done so just in time to miss carrying an election that conservatism might have carried.

THIS COUNTRY changes occasionally: the wise Tammany leader, Richard Croker, said:

"The way to lead is to stay right where you are, and not move, then people come to you."

In any case it does no good to call yourself liberal unless you really are and feel liberal.

OUR GOOD neighbor Chile, anxious to keep gold at home, decided to restrict "luxury importations" and unwisely included automobiles, including trucks, among "luxuries."

As a result Chile's industries face heavy losses, her net work of modern highways will fall into decay.

The automobile is no luxury, and for Chile, with no automobile industry of her own, to discourage importations, is as though some republic of birds should decide to class wings among luxuries.

Birds need wings, modern civilization needs automobiles.

HITLER NEEDS some great accomplishments, preferably the conquest of Russia, to establish himself firmly, and prove his standing as a combination Bismarck and Frederick the Great.

But there would be little profit for Japan in pulling Hitler chestnuts out of the fire and the Japanese, although they are as courageous a people as any on earth, do not like Stalin's recent statement, "I have 7,000 bombing planes ready" nor do they like that collection of airplanes and submarines at Vladivostok, only 450 miles from the Japanese coast.

story the Mexican government tells. President Cardenas has personally directed these activities and has announced he will remain on the spot until the various operations of financing the new land owners and supplying them with proper farming implements has been accomplished.

President Cardenas is determined to show that communal landholding and co-operative farming of the soil, as contemplated in the ejido organization, can be successful. Some of the land expropriated and given to farm hands was owned by foreign interests.

To each ejido there is given besides tillable and grazing lands sufficient for the subsistance of the community, and area carefully chosen for the founding of a village. Bank officials and surveyors, engineers and health officers are co-operating with President Cardenas.

Farming machinery owned by local banks in the Laguna region and by former owners of the land being distributed is to be bought by the government for delivery to the new ejidos. An estimate of the cost of this equipment is 36,000,000 pesos. The Ranco de la Laguna and the Bank of London and Mexico are especially interested in this deal.

The great problem in the United States is to get the unemployed city dweller to till the soil, and in the light of the administration's desire to curb production of grains, fruits and vegetables, the Mexican plan would not get far.

Americanism: Despising pioneer traitors who sold guns to the Indians; selling machines and inventions to the nations that compete with us.

PRESIDENT TO DELIVER MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

Will Personally Talk To Congress

Roosevelt Declares He Is Taking No Part In House Speakership Battle

MORE CRUISES AT SEA ARE PLANNED

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—President Roosevelt will deliver his message on the state of the union in person as soon after January 4, when congress convenes, as the legislators are prepared to receive him.

His new budget message will follow the next day—but as was the case last year, it will be confined only to normal expenditures of government. Later in the new year, estimates will be submitted for 1938 emergency relief expenditures.

Not In House Controversy

The president made it clear neither he nor his immediate aides were taking any part in the contest over the house floor leadership between Reps. Sam Rayburn of Texas, and John J. O'Connor, of New York.

Since 1933, there have been three speakers of the house, the president pointed out. In two cases there were contests, but the White House did not participate. During the four-year period, there were one or two contests over the leadership and the same applied.

It has been a White House rule and will continue to be one to abstain from any interference in matters of house organization, he said.

The president was asked whether he would propose revision of the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill at the coming session.

He looked somewhat startled, then smiled, and said he had never heard of it. He did not amplify this cryptic reply.

Although a number of major vacancies exist in the government establishment, Mr. Roosevelt indicated he was not yet prepared to fill any of them.

A recent magazine article, written by Dr. Stanley High, who was active in the president's campaign, was called to the president's attention in that it purported to detail all major moves the executive is going to make in the next four years.

The president said he had not read the article and he had not known in advance it was going to be written.

Referring briefly to his cruise to South America, the president indicated he hopes to make one ocean trip each year during his second administration.

In fact, he disclosed that while the delightful cruise to Buenos Aires was still in progress, he and his son James had idly worked out enough tentative cruises to last him for the next 25 years.

Toy Repairing Work Big Christmas Project

Surgery without a license!

Vivisection without even a permit to treat a hang nail or a bad cold.

Arms and legs lopped off and put on, broken heads patched up, complexions restored and a new lease of life given the patients.

All of it right here in New Castle, under the very eyes of the physicians and surgeons.

It calls for some investigation by the gentlemen of the scalpel and stethoscope. It calls for investigation by the allopath and homeopath and the eclectic. Also by the barber and business man, the mill worker and the office man. In fact all of you should investigate it for yourselves and see one of the finest Christmas projects you ever saw in all your life.

Toy Rehabilitation.

Its the toy rehabilitation project of the National Youth Administration which has been under way in the Orr hall on Grove street for several weeks.

Over 150 dolls of all sizes and descriptions have been rejuvenated, lost arms and legs have been replaced, heads have been repaired, skilful painting has given the dolls a new face and deft needlework has given them dresses, all ready to be given out to little girls on Christmas who are not on the list of Santa Claus.

In addition to the dolls there are over 1000 toys that have been repaired and repainted. Trucks that will delight a lot of little boys, airplanes, locomotives, velocipedes, toy soldiers, wagons and carts, almost everything you can think of in the way of toys.

The project is an expansion of the idea put into force several years ago by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. They have rehabilitated toys for poor youngsters but this year the project was taken over by the National Youth Administration but sponsored by the vets. They guarantee the money necessary for materials and the NYA furnished the labor.

About 60 At Work.

Young men students who get NYA aid have been working 10 hours per week in the toy shop, about 45 of them. About 15 young women have been engaged in making dresses and other clothes for dolls and the net result of their work is a huge pile of good toys ready to gladden hearts that might otherwise be heavy on Christmas morning.

It is a fine piece of work. One that will chase away gloom and replace it with the Christmas sunshine of good cheer.

The second hand toys were furnished by the children of the public schools. The rehabilitated toys will be given to youngsters whose names are furnished by teachers of the schools.

Howard Wylie, the director of the NYA, believes this group has done a worthwhile piece of work . A visit down there will convince you of the same thing.

Praise Pilot For Handling Plane

Seven Passengers On Airliner Are Saved In Forced Landing

(International News Service)

PORT JERVIS, N. Y., Dec. 21.—Highly praised by those whose lives he saved when the airplane he was piloting was forced down on a wooded hilltop near here, Henry T. (Dick) Merrill, Eastern Air Lines transport pilot, was recovering from his injuries today at a hospital here.

Merrill lost two teeth, his right ankle was broken, and his lips and lower jaw were lacerated.

One of the seven passengers who were being brought from Miami, Fla., to Newark, N. J., and Merrill's co-pilot, John Battle, were also in the hospital, but their condition was not serious although they were badly shaken. The other passengers continued to New York by train.

Flying in a rain storm, Merrill lost touch with the Newark radio beam, and tried to land upon what appeared to be a mountainside with sufficient room to land. The plane cut off the tops of a number of pine trees before it finally came to rest.

Senator Norbeck Is Dead In West

(International News Service)

REDFIELD, S. D., Dec. 21—United States Senator Peter Norbeck, Republican, lay dead here today. He was 66.

Dr. P. R. Scallin, his physician, said the direct cause of death had been a heart attack, although its contributory cause was a cancerous condition of the jaw.

Sen. Norbeck had undergone an operation for the cancer at the Mayo Clinic last March and seemed to improve afterward.

With the senator when he died was his brother, George, a son Harold, and his secretary, Margery Hovreberg. Mrs. Norbeck was at church.

Funeral arrangements are to be announced later today.

Governor Inspects Bootleg Coal Area Of Pennsylvania

(International News Service)

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 21.—Gov. George H. Earle was to set out for Pennsylvania's economic gobi today—the bootleg coal fields—to discover, if he can, a solution to the "greatest conflict the state has even seen between property and moral rights."

Here, in a small area of the anthracite fields, where one of the strangest industries in the world has flourished since—and because of—the depression, Governor Earle, accompanied by state and federal officials, was to begin an unprecented three day inspection tour.

Fifth Ward Lad Wins Fifth Prize

Dennis Allshouse Of Waldo Street Fifth In Tin Mill Essay Contest

In awarding prizes for the best essays written by high school students on their trip through the New Castle Works of the Carnegie-Illinois Corporation, the judges felt that that of Dennis Allshouse of Waldo street deserved a place and he was given fifth prize. Mr. Allshouse's essay follows:

WHAT I SAW WHILE GOING THROUGH THE NEW CASTLE WORKS OF THE CARNEGIE-ILLINOIS STEEL CORPORATION

After passing through the electric eye recorder I found myself on the new side of the plant which contains mills nine to twenty. Here I was chiefly interested in the two largest mills, numbers ten and nineteen, both being forty-two inch mills. After seeing them work a heat I found the most interesting part to be in the way the roller handled the screws to get the pack to the proper length in finishing. We then passed through the opening and shearing department where the packs are opened or pulled apart and sheared to the proper lengths for shipping.

We then entered the sticker-pulling department where sticking sheets are pulled apart. The cold rolls where the tin is cold rolled to make it smoother and more even in finish are also in this department. Following the roped off route we passed the annealing furnaces where the tin is again heated to make it more soft and pliable. Then came the pickling department where the tin is placed on trays and thoroughly soused in the pickling acid to free it from mill dirt.

We continued through the old side where mills one to eight are located and here we passed "Old Faithful" the twenty-two hundred horsepower steam engine that turns the mills. From here we went through the blacksmith shop where tongs are repaired and the pipe turning shop where pipes are fitted for use in the mills.

Leaving these departments behind we passed through the storage and shipping room, where all gauges and sizes of tin was stacked for shipping. It was in this room that the Union Township orchestra played in the morning under the direction of Mr. Duff, and the Ne-Ca-Hi band rendered some snappy military and popular numbers in the afternoon under the direction of Joe F. Replogle.

A friend then took me through the men's locker room where I found an individual locker for each man and a place that was comfortably warm for the men to wash and dress. I then rejoined the crowd and we passed through the tunnel thus putting an end to an interesting visit long to be remembered because of the hospitality shown by the members of the staff and aides throughout the mill.

by a group of six office interviewers, Archie Gordon, newly appointed supervisor of the employment branch, reported.

Mr. Gordon explained that all the lifework history of the employes is being determined in the interviews and filed for future reference at the employment office. The new file will give the office a more complete picture of the job qualifications of the WPA men whenever job demands arise.

"The interviewers contacted the men out on the jobs," Mr. Gordon said. "They have been working for two months and are still engaged in the work."

Work History Of WPA Men Checked; Seek Private Jobs

The Federal-State Employment office here has inaugurated an objective "work history study" among Lawrence county's WPA employes in the hopes of finding jobs for many of them in private industry.

Between 3,800 and 3,900 Works Progress Administration workers had already been interviewed today

G. O. P. Program To Be Planned

Party Leaders Urge "Breathing Spell" For Wholesale Political Criticism

LIBERALIZATION OF PARTY TO BE URGED

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 — The Republican party was ugred today by Representative Hamilton Fish (R.) of New York, to give President Roosevelt "a breathing spell from the hatreds engendered in the campaign—at least until we know what his program is to be

At the same time Representative U. S. Guyer (R.) of Kansas, a close friend of Gov. Alfred M. Landon, Republican standard bearer in the campaign urged the party to refrain from wholesale criticism of every act of the administration.

This program of action is expected to be urged upon both Senate and House Republicans in conferences to be held with the opening of Congress, when policies of the opposition party may be framed.

"My attitude toward President Roosevelt and the Demoratic administration is practically the same as toward the Republican national commitee and its chairman, Mr. Hamilton," said Fish. "It is one of watchful waiting to see what they propose.

Await Program

"If the New Deal presents any unsound, unconstitutional or socialistic measures, the Republicans should fight them from the beginning. On the other hand, if legislation is presented in the interest of wage-earners within confines of the constitution or within the American system, then measures should be given wholehearted support.

"The best thing the Republicans can do is to give President Roosevelt a 'breathing spell' from the hatreds engendered in the campaign—at least until we know what the program is to be."

Guyer declared that one of the big mistakes of the Republican campaign was the wholesale indictment of the New Deal.

"I think the record of the Republicans in Congress will shape the party policies in 1938 and 1940," said Guyer. "It is my idea that in furtherance of this, Republican members should oppose Democratic policies deemed fundamentally wrong such as extreme centralization of power, which is symbolized by bureaucracy.

"I do not believe the Republicans in Congress should—and I think it was one of the mistakes of the recent campaign—criticize and condemn everything the Democratic administration does or make a wholesale onslaught upon everything that bears the sign New Deal.

"In an administration led by such an active and astute politician as the President, everything that has been done could not possibly have been wrong."

Guyer named the reciprocal trade treaty as "an example of congressional surrender of power to the President and bureaucracy."

Both Fish, who failed in his attempt to oust National Chairman John D. M. Hamilton, and Guyer, urged the Republican party to liberalize for the next campaign. Fish planned to carry his fight for liberalization into conferences of congressional Republicans.

Judge Musmanno Acts As Doctor, Driver Jailed

Intoxicated Driver Given Test By Judge And Held For Court Under $2,500

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 21.—Assuming the role of a physician while carrying on his one-man crusade against tipsy drviers, Judge Michael A. Musmanno examined an alleged drunken driver when no doctors were immediately available, pronounced the man intoxicated and today held him for court under $2,500 bond.

The prisoner, James R. Diehl, 31-year-old salesman, was arrested within two hours after his car smashed into a cemetery wall. Rather than wait for the police surgeon, who was absent at the time, Musmanno administered the test and, he said, found sufficient evidence to support the charge.

Pope Now Planning Christmas Message

By FRANK GERVASI
International News Service Staff Correspondent

(Copyright, 1936, by International News Service)

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 21.—In order "thus to show the world I am at least still alive", Pope Pius today summoned the chief engineer of the Vatican radio station and asked him to make preparations for a Christmas message from his sickbed to all Christendom.

Materially improved following treatment with a heart stimulant, the courageous pontiff enjoyed a full night's sleep and immediately upon awakening called the engineer to his bedside.

Ruefully recognizing the necessity of cancelling a proposed Christmas conclave of cardinals, the pope nevertheless felt himself well enough to address the world by radio and extend his pontifical blessing to all.

"Thus I will show the world," he was officially stated to have said, "that at least I am still alive."

The pope was informed that reports that appeared in American newspapers yesterday to the effect he had fainted, necessitating an emergency consultation of his physicians. He learned of the report and smiled wanly, while Vatican officials termed it "fantastic and a pure invention by the correspondent who sent it."

In this connection, the story alleged Senator Nicola Pende, professor of medicine at the University of Rome and an internationally-accepted authority on endocrinology, had been summoned into hasty consultation.

Vatican officials stated in refutation that at no time during the pope's illness has Dr. Pende been summoned to the Vatican.

The pope today received Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state, who has temporarily taken over his official duties.

It was reported treatment with digalene, a derivative of digitalis, had greatly strengthened the pontiff and that its use will be continued.

Colorful Tree At Public Library

Over the week end Santa Claus made a social visit to the free public library and left as a gift to the library staff and all their visitors a beautiful 8-foot Christmas tree, decorated from top to bottom with colored ornaments and bright lights.

Standing majestically in one corner of the junior-adult room is the tree, very brilliantly sending forth its rays of joy to the children of New Castle who come to the library every day to read and borrow books.

To add Christmas spirit to the regular story-hour session, which will be held Thursday afternoon immediately following the close of school, Miss Joyce will tell the stories in the junior-adult room and have the children seated in front of the tree.

Findley Convicted Of Drunken Driving

J. A. Findley of Youngstown, O., was convicted of drunken driving in the Lawrence county court Saturday afternoon. Findley's case was the last one for trial at the December term of court. He was arrested by Constable Robert McClenahan of New Bedford when he failed to make the curve at the east end of New Bedford and crashed into a stone wall. One occupant of his car was injured.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

PROGRAMS FOR CHILDREN

When children put on a public program, large numbers of parents come out. More and more these public programs are the outgrowth, as they should be, of some regular unit of worker activity carried on over a period of time in the classroom by all the children of the class, or by several classes, or the whole school co-operating. Often, especially on junior or senior high school level, the public performance is by some club or organization—dramatic club, gymnasium club, band or orchestra.

As a rule, the educational value is in proportion to the degree to which all the children of the class or larger group represented are participating, and to which preparation for the performance was a part of the regular school program. Special rehearsals out of regular school hours should not be necessary. Gradually the modern school is approaching these objectives.

Nevertheless, the average public performance by elementary school children is of doubtful value, or is positively bad. The chief evil is the human urge to show off. Accordingly the principal or teacher in charge of the program tends to strive for a highly finished performance, in which event the innocent performers tend to become "seals" to be trained, rather than children to be educated—with nerve-wrecking rehearsals after school hours, even at night. Maybe many other children of one or several classes will be neglected for days, and the regular work of the class thrown to the winds, while the teacher wears herself and the chosen children out on rehearsals. And if only a few children are left, how do they feel?

Entire Class Should Take Part

I wish no single classroom would put on a public program in which all the children do not participate in some way; that, moreover, special rehearsals would disappear; and that so far as possible, public performances by school children would be a true sample of an everyday school procedure.

If teachers only knew, we parents would enjoy most to see children as normal learning personalities rather than as highly trained animals of a zoo. Nothing more delightful, for example, than to witness a group of third graders give an extemporaneous dramatic interpretation of a classic fairy tale, or well known event in history.

Hope To Save Liberia From Hungry Powers

Believe Italy Casting Strong Eyes On Small African Republic

COUNTRY RICH IN RAW MATERIALS

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—The United States is casting a worried eye these days across the Atlantic at the far-off little black African republic of Liberia.

The reason for this uneasiness lies, not on the dark continent, but in Europe.

Last Stronghold

Liberia, since Italy's mechanized army gobbled up Ethiopia, is the last stronghold of independence in Africa. A primitive land, it is defenseless against encroachment by an armed power.

With "hungry" European dictatorships poring over world maps for possible new colonies and sources of raw materials, it is feared here Liberia might be the next victim of European rapacity.

After a fashion, Liberia is a protege of the United States, and it was for this reason that Acting Secretary of State R. Walton Moore said Great Britain's action in extending recognition finally to the Negro republic "pleases the United States very much."

Well Protected

Another fact that might deter a conquest is that Liberia is surrounded by British and French possessions. Sierra Leone, British protectorate, is to the north and west, French Guinea to the north, and such great powers as the United States, Britain and France throwing their moral support behind the little Republic in maintenance of its autonomy, any other power would think twice before stepping in.

It is felt here that, with three the French ivory coast lies to the east.

The black republic's sympathies are closely linked with the United States. It has had a story book history.

It was first settled in the early part of the 19th century by a shipload of freed American Negro slaves, financed and sent back to their native land by philanthropic Americans.

Become Americanized

Many American slaves were being freed by owners in gratitude for their services, but they could not gain American citizenship. Their plight interested President Washington. Later, President James Monroe, after whom the Liberian colonists named their capital, Monrovia, saw in the colony a possible settlement of the slave question which a half century later involved the United States in civil war.

Through more than a century Liberians have clung to the English tongue as they learned it in the United States. It is the official language. Their cities are named for American presidents and prominent statesmen. One of their counties is called Virginia, another Maryland. There is a town named New York, another named White Plains. Their constitution and form of government is modeled after those of the United States.

Two Canton High Students Killed

Auto Crashes Into B. & O. Freight Train During Snow Storm

CANTON, O., Dec. 21—Two Canton McKinley High school pupils, one a widely known golf star, were killed and two others were seriously injured early Sunday, when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into a Baltimore & Ohio freight train in a blinding snowstorm at an unprotected crossing north of here.

Ray Tillett, 17, captain last year of McKinley High's golf team and one of northeastern Ohio's best junior golfers, died several hours after the accident at Mercy Hospital here.

James Wonderly, 18, another McKinley pupil died shortly after he was admitted to the hospital.

Robert Copthorne, 17 and William Guht, 16, were in critical condition last night at the hospital, attaches reported.

The car crashed into the side of the train. Members of the train crew told police that the driver apparently was blinded by the snow and failed to see the slowly moving freight until it was too late to avoid the crash.

Sullivan Wants Legal Death In Electric Chair

Allegheny County District Attorney Sets Wheels In Motion For Speedy Trial

MAKE PLANS FOR BURYING VICTIMS

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 21.—A question developed today whether Martin J. Sullivan, 65-year-old Duquesne policeman who shot and killed five persons for "revenge," will be permitted to plead guilty to first degree murder without being represented by counsel.

While District Attorney Andrew T. Park laid plans to bring the smirking, pudgy-faced killer to justice, and ultimately the electric chair, as speedily as possible, other officials debated what action to take on Sullivan's plea he be sent to his legal death with all dispatch.

Sooner The Better

"I know I'm headed for the electric chair," he was quoted as saying, "and the sooner the better."

Although he has refused his children permission to retain an attorney for him, it was believed some counsel would be named, if not by Sullivan or a member of his family, by the county.

In all homicide cases in which the defendant refuses to hire a lawyer, the courts usually make an appointment.

Park, it was learned, hopes to bring Sullivan to trial before the end of January. With the killer's confession in his possession, the district attorney said he would ask a coroner's jury for a verdict of murder on five counts three days after Christmas, and will seek indictments as soon as the January grand jury convenes.

Psychiatrists appointed to examine the amazingly calm mass slayer will probably report on their findings before the case goes to the coroner's jury.

Will Bury Victims

Preparations went forward today for the burial of Sullivan's victims, slain by him in a "round of murder" which apparently never had its sequel. Four of the slain will be buried in the district while the body of the fifth, Mrs. Laura C. Bacon, social worker, was sent to her native city of Cincinnati for interment.

It was Mrs. Bacon's investigation of charges by 12-year-old Antoinette Vukelja that Sullivan had mistreated her which led to the murders. Enroute to jail after being booked on immorality charges, Sullivan eluded Constable Thomas L. Gallagher and one by one killed the persons he held responsible for his predicament. They had "lied" him into jail, he charged, and the killings were his "revenge."

Those to be buried at Duquesne today were Mrs. Mary Vukelja, 48, mother of Antionette; her son, Milan, 23; Joseph Benda, 55, and his wife, Mary, 50.

I. L. HARPER NEW B. AND O. FOREMAN

Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Harper, of St. Louis, Mo., will take up residence in the Frew apartments on Moody avenue, after the first of the year, he having been transferred here as the new foreman of the B. and O. Railroad.

Mr. Harper is filling the vacancy left by D. L. Booth who was transferred to Williard, O., in the same capacity.

MAY REPLACE ALARM SYSTEM

Councilmen Discuss Gamewell System And Contract With City

During council session at the city building today, council expressed dissatisfaction with the Gamewell police alarm system and indicated that an effort would be made to void the contract between the Gamewell company and the city of New Castle.

If successful, council indicated, negotiations would be entered into with the Bell Telephone company whereby the Bell would provide this service. At the same time it was stated that negotiations for a telephone exchange as a means of saving money and furnishing good city hall service were yet under way.

During today's meeting Mayor Charles E. McGrath, who was absent from the city when a proposed telephone exchange was discussed at city hall, asked the status of the negotiations. Councilman James L. Fink said that a representative of the Bell Telephone company had not yet submitted final figures.

The mayor then inquired if there were not some way the Gamewell system could be considered in connection with the exchange matter. He said "the question facing the city now is whether or not the city wants to continue the contract with the Gamewell firm for eight more years."

Mayor McGrath alleged that "half of the system now is out of condition" and charged that "it would take $15,000 to put it in shape. I cannot see the sense of paying for it. We should turn this matter over to the solicitors," the mayor advised.

"Can you get out of the contract?" Councilman J. Myron Rice asked.

"If we can get out we should get out," Councilman B. F. Butler advised.

"When we have paid for it ($12,000 is yet due, according to Fink) the system will be useless," the mayor alleged.

The system was installed before the present administration, it was explained.

"I believe we should turn the contract over to the solicitors department for investigation," said Councilman Fink.

Mayor McGrath said the call service had largely been supplanted by the police radio system.

The mayor also declared that there is only one box light working and alleged there should be 19 in operation.

"Conditions were different from today than when the system was installed," Councilman Butler stated.

Mayor McGrath charged that the system was installed with exposed wires and said that everytime it rains "we have trouble with it."

"With the radio system and operation of cruiser cars the system is not now required as it was in the past," Councilman Alexander stated.

Councilman Rice referred to the Bell Telephone company, explaining that if that company installed a system "they will service it."

"I move that you contact them and the mayor inquire into the contract with the Gamewell system," was Fink's motion.

It was passed.

Last week a representative of the Bell Telephone company presented a proposal that an exchange be put into city hall as a means of giving better service. No action was taken pending additional information and the mayor's return form Harrisburg.

The city must pay an installment of more than $1,000 on the Gamewell system each year until it is paid for, after which the city will own it.

SONNET TO WINTER NIGHT BEAUTY

Hush—lo, I go to keep a silent tryst
In soundless flaming world of blue and white
Following paths that gleam like amethyst.
Together, to attend a pagan rite . . .
Deep in snow-muted hills and silvery wood,
Hand in hand with Beauty softly I'll go . . .
Burning a stick of fragrant sandal-wood,
Across the alabaster flame of snow . . .
Past blue tapered shadows of trees outstretched
In broken lengths across a white expanse,
With black tracery of twigs clearly etched
Against the frosty moon's bright radiance.
There . . . low chimes from the purling icelocked stream
Sound like Beauty's love whispered in a dream.

—C. David Vormelker.

Wagner Sentenced To Life Term For Death Of Infant

(International News Service)

GREENSBURG, Pa., Dec. 21.—Kenneth Wagner, 30-year-old Arnold aluminum worker, convicted of the poison-murder of his 14-day-old baby, Dorothy Louise, today was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary by Judge J. Hilary Keenan, who denied a motion for new trial.

The sentence was merely a formality in carrying out the jury's edict which found a first degree verdict December 11 and recommended life imprisonment.

Wagner, a serious look on his face, made no comment after the sentence was handed down.

Mrs. Jessie Hankey, 25, former housemaid of Wagner's previously convicted in the case of first degree murder with life imprisonment recommended, has not yet been sentenced.

Japanese-Russian War In Future Is Not Very Likely

Japan Must Remove Chinese Menace Before Tackling Soviet Russia

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21—War between Japan and Soviet Russia in the near future, despite frequent border clashes, is considered most unlikely by military experts here.

This view is unshaken in face of the recent military alliance between Nippon and Nazi Germany.

Before Japan would dare strike at Russia, even though assured of a simultaneous thrust by Germany on the west, the threat of a hostile and armed China must be removed, military observers believe.

The present crisis in China may, however, have a vital effect on the relations between the two major powers. Should the power of China's abducted "strong man," Chiang Kai-Shek, bread down and civil war ensue, Japan would have a clear road for future encroachment on the Asiatic continent.

COUNTY JAILS IN FAIR CONDITION

HARRISBURG — Conditions in Pennsylvania county prisons are fair, according to a survey just completed by the Department of Welfare.

Pennington said today.

Death Results From Apoplexy

Frank Marino, Of 24 North Lee Avenue, Found Dying By Son-In-Law Today

Frank Marino, aged about 78, of 24 North Lee avenue, was found in a dying condition in the dining room of his son, Tony Marino, at 11:45 this morning, death resulting before medical attention could be summoned. Coroner Orville Potter stated that death was evidently due to a stroke of apoplexy.

The son, who is employed by the state highway department, had been out working during the night, and came home and went to bed late this morning. Shortly after retiring he heard a noise downstairs and investigating, found his father lying on the floor in a dying condition.

The deceased formerly resided on the Harbor road, and leaves several other children, beside the son, Tony.

Mr. Marino's body has been removed to the Burke Funeral Home, and announcement of funeral arrangements will be made later.

School Boy Sent To Reform School For Chum's Death

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 21.—Henry Roxby, 15-year-old schoolboy, was sentenced to an indeterminate term in the Pennsylvania training school at Morganza by Judge M. A. Musmanno today after pleading guilty to shooting a 12-year-old friend at target practice.

While his mother wept in court, Judge Musmanno reprimanded both the boy and his parents, asserting:

"Fathers and mothers can spend their money much more wisely than by putting death-dealing instruments into children's hands."

Henry and two other boys, according to detectives, borrowed a .22 calibre rifle for "target practice". Henry, his chums told police, wanted to "scare" Bronislaus Malkowiak, 12, and fired in his direction. The bullet entered the youngster's stomach and he died shortly afterward.

POINTS TO DANGER IN WILD BERRIES

HARRISBURG—Deputy Secretary W. J. B. Winters of the Department of Forests and Waters today issued this worning: "Do not eat wild berries and fruit in the woods unless you definitely know the trees and shrubs on which they grow."

Deputy Secretary Winters said that parents should particularly caution their children against the eating of wild berries while in the woods, for most of the recent victims have been youngsters who frequently eat any kind of berry as long as there is a resemblance to the common berries used for home consumption.

Work On Clue In Watchman's Death

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 21—Detectives, attempting to solve the slaying of William Herron, 17 year old garage watchman who was found beaten to death Friday morning, had only one clue today to work on.

A fingerprint, found on the dashboard of a car which had been stolen from the garage and abandoned, provided the clue. A bertillon operator began work on its classification today.

A college education for everybody sounds good; but if all were polished and proud, who would do the dirty work?

Mrs. Simpson Will Not See Duke Of Windsor For Several Months

By MICHAEL WILSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CANNES, France, Dec. 21.—Mrs. Wallis Simpson plans to wait several months before she sees the Duke of Windsor again, her host at the Villa Lou Viei, Herman L. Rogers, told International News Service today.

"There is no possibility at all of Mrs. Simpson seeing the Duke of Windsor before spring," he said.

"We are going to pass a quiet, family Christmas, with nothing special planned."

Indicating Mrs. Simpson has no definite plans, which are understood to be subordinated to Edward's decisions, Rogers denied that Mrs. Simpson has any idea of buying or renting a house on the Riviera at present.

"There is no possibility of her having anything in view at the moment. She will remain here for several months."

Rogers said Mrs. Simpson spends most of her time at the Villa writing letters, reading and taking occasional afternoon drives.

Receives Newspapermen

Earlier, marking the first and only time since the abdication of former King Edward that Mrs. Simpson has consented to see correspondents, she received me and two other American newspaper men in the garden of the Rogers' villa, and for the first time in her life she talked freely to reporters.

She chatted informally for more than half an hour, but refused to give permission to her visitors to quote anything she said.

Dressed simply but elegantly in a trim sky blue skirt and smartly cut plaid jacket, she appeared at ease despite a slight nervousness.

We had hardly been introduced when Mrs. Simpson suddenly turned and walked further back into the garden under the shade of a large olive tree. A photographer had suddenly appeared at the driveaway and was being rushed out by a detective.

But with a good-natured smile lighting her face, Mrs. Simpson bantered with us about all the places in which she has been reported during the past few days and discussed the Riviera's beauty spots.

Reversing the usual procedure Mrs. Simpson questioned her visitors about newspaper reporting, in which she showed considerable interest, and also discussed sports.

Although she has been in almost complete seclusion at the villa in order to evade inquisitive visitors, she refused to complain, but laughingly joked and bantered until it was time for us to leave.

Then, as she turned toward the door of the house, she looked back over her shoulder and said:

"And if it should interest you, I am going for a drive this afternoon."

Woman Foiled In Attempt To Kill Five Of Children

Uniontown Woman Is Unbalanced And Will Be Taken To State Institution

(International News Service)

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Dec. 21—A Connellsville mother was under guard in Fayette county jail today after being foiled in an attempt to murder her five children, police reported.

She awaited a mental examination which may return her to the Torrence Hospital for the Feebleminded.

The mother, Mrs. Clara Leichliter Seaman, 31, according to police, had planned to do away with the children by battering their heads with a heavy bottle. Three times she struck William, 3, they said, and had the first blow knocked the lad unconscious the massacre would have been completed.

"I had planned to use a heavy hammer, hitting all of them on the temples so hard that one blow would have been fatal," she was quoted as saying. "I fought against it and even locked myself in a bedroom, so that I wouldn't do it.

"Little William came after me and crawled into bed at my side. He was in his sleepers. I saw the bottle on the stand near the bed. I struck him violently behind the ear, and instead of dying he started to cry. I struck him again and again. He just kept on crying. It seems as if God didn't want him to die, when those blows didn't kill him.

"I thought one blow would be enough to kill him. I hit him three times and he looked up at me, crying as if I should help him. I saw then I couldn't kill him or any of them. I felt sorry for William and called a doctor. Later I called the state police."

Other Seaman children are Clark, 7; Allan, 6; David, 4, and Ruth Ann, 15 months. Mental strain, induced by worry, was blamed by police for the act.

SERVICE

A rather stout woman was making herself a nuisance in the big shop which was holding its annual sale. Nothing, it seemed, would suit her, and the poor, unfortunate clerk was beginning to get a little weary.

"Haven't you anything ready-made that will fit me?" asked the customer at last.

"Yes, the umbrellas and the handkerchiefs are down stairs, madam," the girl replied.

Army Airmen Are Forced Down

Lost Several Hours In Dense Snowstorm In West Virginia Area

(International News Service)

ELKINS, W. Va., Dec. 21. — Forced down by a lack of fuel after they had been lost several hours in a dense snowstorm over this area, two Army airmen were recovering in a hospital here today from injuries suffered when their government plane cracked up in landing on a heavily wooded farm nearby.

The flyers, Lt. Robert J. Koster and his mechanic, Marshall C. Hoppin, were enroute from Langley Field, Va., to Cincinnati when they became lost and ran out of gas. At Davis Memorial hospital it was said neither of the flyers was badly hurt.

The plane, however, was badly damaged.

The baby girl, who will be named Anna, was born at dawn.

As soon as he received the good news, a broad grin spread over the belligerent features of Dr. Sargas and for a moment he radiated goodwill.

"I am so happy I want to forgive all my enemies," he beamed.

Then the smile changed to a frown.

"But honor prevents that," he said.

"However, I shall not duel further until after Christmas, because I am a good Christian."

Plastice Surgery Can Change You For Good Or Ill

You Can Now Remodel Your Face As Well As Your House

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH—Your face is not exactly Apollo-like in contour—and you wish to be handsome?

See the nearest plastic surgeon.

Or you are the image of Clark Gable, and the girls just won't leave you alone?

Again, see the nearest plastic surgeon. . . he'll make you a Frankenstein of the first order if you wish.

It's all possible, and indeed, quite commonplace nowadays, according to Dr. Samuel Cohen of the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Cohen demonstrated the advances made in plastic surgery at the annual convention here of the Pennsylvania Medical Society.

But be careful, Dr. Cohen advised, who you chose to remodel your face. "Plastic surgery," he warned, "is definitely the work of a specialist, and not the average doctor."

Exhibiting a number of deft surgical instruments which he told the convention could change the nose to any shape, flatten back ears, change lips, alter eyebrows or remove scars, Dr. Cohen explained:

"Often just a slight change in the features alters an individual's entire face. For example, if a person has a large nose, it can be made smaller by cutting away some of the cartilage."

Likewise, he said, there was not one feature of the human face which could not be entirely remade, either for better or worse.

Dr. Cohen stressed the importane of avoiding any "quack" remedies toward beauty. The much advertised nose-clamps, and other short-cuts to beauty should be studiously ignored, he said.

Asked about the use of criminals of plastic surgery to avoid recognition and arrest, Dr. Cohen said "professional ethics and law should be strong enough to prevent criminals from obtaining plastic surgery services."

Weeds Eliminated By Sulphuric Acid

Spray Will Kill Certain Weeds But Won't Harm Grain

(International News Service)

NEW YORK.—American grain farmers are due to receive a bonus from modern chemistry as the result of successful experiments in the elimination of weeds with a sulphuric acid spray, announced by the Agricultural Research Advisory Bureau here after a survey of widespread tests.

The bonus will take the form of additional revenues accruing from increased crop yield per acre. According to the Bureau, spraying the grains with sulphuric acid increases the yield from 50 to 80 per cent.

Started in 1933 on a few test plots in California, the experiments with sulphuric acid as a method of eliminating weeds in grain fields were enlarged this year to include tracts of several thousands of acres in a number of western states, the Bureau said.

The experiments proved that dilute sulphuric acid will not harm the grains but is almost 100 per cent efficient as a destroyer of certain types of weeds that infest grain fields, notably wild radish and mustard. A new spray boom makes it possible to apply the treatment with almost any type of spraying device.

Despite the fact that the sulphuric acid method of eliminating weeds is new to American agriculture, it has been successfully employed in Europe for a number of years, the Bureau said. It pointed to the fact that this year English farmers kept more than 29,000 acres of grain free from weeds with its use. In France approximately

Warsaw Gangster Buys Old Paper, Steals Machines

Clever Scheme Is Worked By Man Who Was Model Prisoner

(International News Service)

WARSAW—To the gallery of celebrated Warsaw gangsters and thieves have been added another interesting figure, one K. Bienkowski, who "specialized" in buying newspaper shavings.

His method was simple. He went to newspaper offices and printing plants and offered to buy any quantity of paper shavings and clippings, any size, color or weight. It did not matter to him how much—a large quantity—was his motto—and for cash.

Bienkowski, who left one of the Warsaw jails with marks for "good conduct", did not fail to prove what an expert buyer he was when he entered a well-known printing plant in one of Warsaw's main thoroughfares and proposed to buy all the waste paper that could be found on the premises.

No printing or newspaper plant worthy of its name would fail to grasp such an opportunity to get rid of the dirty shavings and clippings that ruin its appearance, and for hard cash, too. So Bienkowski was invited to step in and take as much paper refuse as he could handle or carry.

Being a shrewd businessman, he brought a large bag to take away his "merchandise" and was so thorough in his work that after the office was closed the owner, a woman, discovered missing one brand new typewriter and five counting machines. She called in the police and told them what happened and it soon leaked that Bienkowski was a noted thief specializing in stealing typewriters and disposing of them with shady intermediaries and ironmongers.

MUTINY SHIP WILL BE RE-CHRISTENED

(International News Service)

AMSTERDAM—The Dutch cruiser "De Zeven Provincien" which in February, 1933, become front page news when its crew mutinized off the coast of Sumatra, is to be re-christened the "Sourabaya."

The change of name was decided upon because the ship is now to be stationed at Sourabaya, Java, as a training ship for native sailors. She will be rebuilt.

The native crew of "De Zeven Provincien' mutinied off the north coast of Sumatra, against wage cuts.

They seized the ship and put out to sea. Seaplanes overtook the vessel and a bomb was dropped from a Government aeroplane killing 18 members of the crew. The mutineers then surrendered.

Reich To Search For Oil And Ore With Gravimeter

(International News Service)

BERLIN—In line with its efforts to make Germany independent of foreign raw materials, the German government has ordered a new painstaking geological survey of Reich territory to find new ore and oil deposits.

The gigantic task imposed on state geologists by this order has been facilitated by a revolutionary new apparatus measuring gravitation. This gravimeter consists of a weight hanging on a spiral spring. With varying force of gravity on areas surveyed the tension of this spring is changed.

The change in spring tension is so small, however, that it can only be noticed and measured by aid of a specially constructed light rays meter. The whole gravimeter is installed in a passenger car, a fleet of which will tour the Reich to carry out the survey.

The gravimeter automatically indicates where the earth is lighter or heavier. If the instruments indicate less gravity the surveyor knows that he can expect to find light rocks or salt under the surface. The area of any salt deposit can then be exactly mapped out.

If, on the other hand, the spring tension on the instrument increases, the scientist knows he is over deposits of heavy ore, coal or oil, according to the degree the spring tension changes.

In practice, operation of this instrument is not simple, because many other factors like positions of the moon and the sun in relation to the earth have an effect and have to be taken into account.

EXPERT TELLS HOW TO PICK BETTER SHIRTS

(International News Service)

AMHERST, Mass.—Helpful hints on how to be a "shirt detective."

Mrs. Housewife can tell, when she buys a shirt for hubby, whether she is getting what she is paying for, with a bit of close examination.

Mrs. Esther Cooley Page, extension clothing specialist at Massachusetts State College says to look for these points.

Good shirts have seven buttons down the front. Each button has four holes.

The better shirts have their tails "square cut." The cheap shirts economize on cloth by "skimp cutting," around the edges, and saving enough to get 13 or 14 shirts out of the yardage necessary for 12 full-cut shirts.

Examine the texture. Good broadcloth is made with two-ply thread lengthwise and two-ply thread crosswise. Cheap shirts are made with two ply one way and single ply the other, or single ply both ways.

Beware of "pre-shrunk" ads unless they say definitely that they are guaranteed not to shrink more than a certain percentage during the life of the garment.

Watch the shirt sleeve fullness as distributed at the cuff seam. In cheap shirts, the fullness is bunched at the cuff.

Look for yoke reinforcements.

INMATES OF DEATH HOUSE WANT MUSIC

(International News Service)

NEW YORK—Inmates of Sing Sing's death house have presented an extraordinary request to Warden Lewis E. Lawes. They have asked permission to let a fellow prisoner play the violin and by doing so, calm them with music.

Alfred Volckman, facing electrocution for the "thrill" killing of Helen Glenn, 9, of Greenville, N. Y., was permitted to play his violin while in the Catskill county jail. Somehow word got from the "outside in" to the death house prisoners and, when Volckman was transferred to Sing Sing, his "neighbors" made their request to Lawes.

A poultryman should always immediately clean and disinfect crates used to take fowls to market.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Atoms Are Like Miniature Suns

Scientists Trying To Figure Out What Causes Components To Stick Together

NEW THEORY IS ELUCIDATED

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Everything consists of atoms.

An atom is a miniature replica of our solar system. At its center is what corresponds to our sun, with little planets revolving around it.

"Miniature" is right. An atom's diameter, sun, planets and all, is about one trillionth of an inch. Or it may be several trillionths. Being no scientist, I am uncertain within a dozen or two of ciphers. It is a smallish kind of a solar system, anyway.

An eminent savant has said that the head of a pin and the head of a man alike are made up of atoms. This sounds like a "dirty crack", implying that we of the human race are all "pin-heads". Nevertheless, he said it.

EXPLAINING AN ATOM

Of course no one ever has seen an atom. A diameter of a trillionth or less is too much (or contrariwise) for the highest-powered microscope.

I once had the hardihood to ask an expert at the U. S. bureau of standards whether he considered atoms as fact or merely theory. His answer was that he would have to brand anyone, who rejected them in theory, as an ignoramus.

Now the whole thing has been explained to me. Like heck it has.

IS THIS CLEAR?

It seems that an atom's sun consists of some protons (a few quadrillions) packed together "in a nucleus, with a varying number of electrons," and "other electrons revolving around this nucleus in orbits."

I hope that is clear.

Up to a certain point it is, but not altogether, hitherto, even to scientists.

The flaw in the ointment has been that the respective sorts of electrical charges characteristic of protons, on the one hand, and of electrons, on the opposite hand should make protons and electrons fly apart; not stick together.

AN ANSWER FOUND

Obviously neither pins' heads nor men's heads fly apart in any literal sense. They stick together. Pin-heads' heads do, too, for that matter.

The problem that the Carnegie Institution of Washington has been worrying over for many a day is, "What makes 'em stick together?"—wtih those protons' and electrons' conflicting electrical charges working at such violently cross purposes.

In its last report the Carnegie Institution's terristrial magnetism laboratory furnishes the anewer.

A neutron is involved in the equation.

ANYWAY, IT'S EXPRESSED

It would appear to be just such a situation as would exist if the United States senate were divided between 40 Democrats and 40 Republicans and 14 wild-eyed radicals—holding the balance of power and compelling the two groups of 40 to stick together to prevent the country from going cuckoo.

The Carnegie report describes a neutron as a proton with one positron added.

This positron presumably is the extra modicum of radicalism that makes either a proton or an electron unmanagable. I may not express this in strictly scientific language; the Carnegie report itself says that the formula can be expressed only in a "new form of mathematics".

EVEN WISEST GUESS

In any event, the stuff, whatever it is, has no name yet.

"Super-gravity" is one designation suggested for it.

The Carnegie folk say it beats anything since Sir Isaac Newton. In fact, they think they would set Sir Isaac a-guessing. Their conclusions are embodied in an official report, anyway.

I try to put them into my simple, first reader language.

Further WPA Cut Is Expected By First Of Year

Statement By President Roosevelt Interpreted As Reduction Of WPA Forces

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—A further slash of 20 per cent in WPA'S work relief program, already cut more than 7.5 per cent since Nov. 1, was anticipated by officials on the basis of President Roosevelt's statement that congress would be asked for a deficiency work relief appropriation of approximately $500,000,000.

That amount, according to WPA reports, would provide employment for an average of only 1,904,762 persons to the end of the fiscal year June 30, at the present cost-per-man-per-month.

WPA'S employment rolls totaled 2,384,204 on Dec. 5, the latest figure available. That was a slash of 7.5 per cent since Nov. 1.

Further reduction was ordered by Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, notwithstanding protest by Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York, both as mayor of that city and as president of the U. S. Conference of Mayors, and numberous protests by governors and other officials.

Deliberately Stole To Get Prison Term, In Avoiding Marriage

(International News Service)

LAWRENCE, Mass., Dec. 21.—August Turcotte, 24, Salem, who had a sudden change of heart about going to the altar, today began a ten-year sentence at Concord reformatory, a self-chosen alternative to marriage.

Superior Court Judge Louis S. Cox listened, perplexed, to a bizzare story when Turcotte was brought before him charged wtih larceny. The young man's attorney, Francis E. Rafter, Salem, unfolded the details.

Member of an old Salem family, Turcotte was suddenly overcome with the desire to avoid marriage to his fiancee who had already bought her trousseau. So he broke into the house of Max Korn, Peabody leather merchant, knowing he would be recognized. Then he pawned the loot in nearby Lynn to make it easier to trace him.

"You are trying to get rid of the girl?" asked Judge Cox.

"Yes," replied Turcotte.

PULASKI

LADIES AID

One of the lovely social events of the week was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Simpson on Friday evening when with Mrs. Ernest Etzrott, associate hostess, they entertained the members of the Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist church. Following the business meeting a social evening was enjoyed, 26 being present. Mrs. J. R. Meek and little grandson, Ronald Meek, of New Castle, spent Thursday the guest of the former's daughter, Mrs. Raymond Urey, of Warren, O.

Horace Greeley, the great New York City editor, was a crank on following copy to the letter and coupled with his wretched handwriting this caused many a headache to the printers. Once, strenuously reproving a compositor, the latter showed him his own copy and Greeley, seeing he was mistaken, bowed abjectly to the assembled printers in front of whom he had reproved the guilty one and said, "Is there nobody here big enough to kick me downstairs?"

For one of the finest stories that came out of the World war, we commend the following: Two Belgian regiments began firing on each other by mistake in the heat of the battle. Their general, perceiving it, took to horse, summoned his bugler, and they both, the bugler playing an old drinking song and the general singing it at the top of his voice, marched slowly between the lines, drawing the attention of all by the queer behavior and thus stilling the fire.

But the thing to remember is that Russia's upward climb must get a lot higher to reach what we consider bottom.

Home Meet Delegate

Rolland Cronick

Rolland Cronick, senior of Goshen township high school, Damascus, O., has been made delegate to represent his school at the Ohio Home Economics association convention to be held in Columbus next spring. The boys of Goshen high have formed their own home economics class, and their teacher, Miss Daisy Stackhouse, says they show rare promise in culinary pursuits.

"Santa Claus is coming to town," we sing in the popular song. He seems to have arrived in the above picture and is being welcomed by the children gathered around the Christmas tree.

Authorities say that the origin of Santa Claus, or St. Nicholas, probably is Dutch. C. C. Moore, who wrote "A Visit From St. Nicholas" for the St. Nicholas magazine in 1822, says he got his idea of the description of the kindly saint from a jolly fat Dutchman who was a neighbor of his in New York state, and who was forever relating to him anecdotes of his boyhood in Holland.

"He was dressed all in fur from his head to his foot
And his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and soot;
A bundle of toys he had flung on his back
And he looked like a pedlar just opening his pack.
His eyes—how they twinkled! His dimples how merry!
His cheeks were like roses, his mouth like a cherry!
His droll little mouth was drawn up like a bow,
And the beard of his chin was as white as the snow;
The stump of pipe he held tight in his teeth,
And the smoke it encircled his head like a wreath;
He had a broad face and a little round belly
That shook, when he laughed, like a bowl full of jelly.
He was chubby and plump, a right jolly old elf,
And I laughed when I saw him in spite of myself."

Origin Of Christmas Tree

The Chrisemas tree is said to have originated in early Christian days when the church took over some of the heathen festivals.

Christ's trees, or Christmas trees, were decorated with lights and gifts and there were special meats and dishes for the occasion. Christmas became a social festival for old and young. At one time the festivities were continued until Candlemas and Twelfth Day, and this is done in some countries even today.

Somerset Gets Into Spotlight

Unexpected Notoriety Is Given Town By Designation As Trial Center

MANY VISITORS ARE EXPECTED

(International News Service)

SOMERSET, Pa., Dec. 21—Thrown unexpectedly into the state spotlight as the result of the supreme court's designation of this community as the site for the trial of Uniontown's famous "third degree' murder case, Somerset today prepared for the army of visitors expected simultaneously with the opening of the trial, scheduled for February 8.

Discounting the possibility of an appeal to the United States supreme court by the 12 Fayette county men indicted in connection with Monaghan's death, this mountain-surrounded community will see an influx of newspapermen, attorneys, witnesses and crowds of the curious such as it has never known before.

With a long and tedious trial in prospect, it is possible Somerset will become the "Flemington" of Pennsylvania and flourish as did that little New Jersey town during the Hauptmann trial.

Meanwhile, it became known defense attorneys were studying the opinion of the supreme court in which it declared that to "assure a fair trial" of the Monaghan "cause celebre", it was necessary to grant Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti's petition for a change of venue from Uniontown. Margiotti had argued that no fair trial could be obtained in the defendants' home community. Defense attorneys, however, responded that only in Uniontown could the defendants be assured of fair treatment.

Fires Bullets At Suspicious Person

Police received a report last night that Samuel Rhodes of 417½ Lyndal street had fired two shots thru a rear window at an alleged suspicious character in the rear of his home.

The shots did not take effect, so far as police learned.

It was alleged that a man had chased several girls in that vicinity.

Patrolmen Richards, Hagen and Dukes were sent to the district but failed to find the suspicious character who is reported to have operated in that vicinity also on a previous night.

On Court House Hill

Letters of administration have been granted by Register and Recorder William R. Hanna in the following: Estate of Mary E. Cunningham, late of Ellwood City, to Floyd V. Lortzo; estate of Equtio De Mattio, late of Mahoning township, to T. Howard Kelley; estate of S. E. Calhoun, late of New Wilmington, to Roy M. Jamison; estate of Linda M. Endress, late of this city, to Woodrow Endress.

J. Q. Port, use of the Guaranty Trust Company, of Butler, now for use of the Union Trust Company, of the same city, has filed a scire facias at the prothonotary's office against Benjamin F. Black and Rachael J. Black to collect a balance of $145.80 with interest from July 20, 1932. The mortgage is on property in the Fourth ward, this city.

Acording to reports the 1937 legislature, among other things, will be asked to go into the advertising business. More specifically, advertise Pennsylvania. At a recent meeting in Wilkes-Barre of representatives of daily and weekly papers and civic organizations, it was decided to ask the legislature for a $500,000 appropriation to advertise for two years the "scenic and historical" attractions of the state. The idea would be to lure tourist trade.

County commissioners have asked the state highway department at Harrisburg to send blueprints of the proposed road which would form a link of the Ben Franklin highway in Mahoning township. It is said that the department has made two surveys from a point near the Miller farm on the Edenburg-Hillsville road to the Ohio line. As the county must bear the expense of acquiring the land, the commissioners wish to decide on which survey to use. Their decision will be governed largely by the cost of the land which is to be taken. It is understood that the limestone companies through whose land the road will pass will be very liberal, especially if the new road passes over land from which the limestone has been removed.

In the matter of the estate of the late Henry B. Dysart, which was before the court on an audit of Jessie McBride Dysart, widow and administratrix of decedent, Judge Walter W. Braham has handed down an opinion as to the distribution of funds in the hands of the administratrix. The account showed a balance of $3,187.35 of personal, as well as real estate.

The will read "all property is left to my wife as long as she remains my widow, except a Masonic ring, a gold watch and $500 in cash."

In addition to his widow, decedent left a father, Henry Dysart, and mother, Ellen Dysart. The court finds that the three items mentioned in the will are in a class by themselves as they were neither left to the widow or the parents, nobody being named. As to the three items, the court finds that Dysart died intestate. Again there was no provision in the will for a contingency that might arise, should Mrs. Dysart remarry. In view of these circumstances the court makes the following order relative to the $3,187.35, less $2.50 costs, in the hands of the administratrix.

"To Jessie McBride Dysart, absolutely, $1,592.42; to Jessie McBride Dysart, upon giving security in the sum of $2,500, the balance of the funds, or $1,592.42."

AROUND CITY HALL

Employees of the streets department met King Snow with shovels yesterday and as a result the downtown thoroughfares were cleaned off which aided traffic today. The last heavy snow resulted in the same move.

Twenty-four persons have put in applications for positions in the police department and will take the mental test which will be given by the civil service board at city hall tonight. It is probable the police will be named from the successful applicants.

Mayor Charles E. McGrath will deliver a talk before the Lions club January 5. It will concern the crime on crime which was held last week at Harrisburg. At a recent session of council the mayor delivered a report which proved quite interesting to colleagues.

Drastic Athletic Reform Suggested

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Dec. 21.—General approval by mid-western educators resounded today over the platform for athletic reform advanced by Dr. Lotus D. Coffman, president of the University of Minnesota.

Adoption of such a revolutionary program, however, seemed unlikely. The biggest obstacle was from the financial standpoint, in the opinion of commentators.

President Coffman, among other things, urged curtailment of football activities, to the extent of university teams playing only natural rivals and the admittance of students free of charge, reduction of gate receipts and athletic expenses.

He also suggested elevated scholastic requirements for athletes and creation of endowment funds to support the various fields of sport.

The Rev. John O'Hara, president of the University of Notre Dame, described the plan as both "sensible and practical". He said it was wrong to the athlete himself to allow him undue favors and added that monogram men at Notre Dame have been found to rank higher scholastically than the average student.

Dr. O'Hara echoed President Coffman's warning against gambling on college football and other sports, that tends to commercialize and over-emphasize athletics.

Dr. Walter Dill Scott, head of Northwestern university, expressed similar views

Catholics Nose Out Yankee Team

After two exciting extra periods, the Catholic basketball team of the South Side continued its winning streak by winning a 17-15 decision over the Young Yankees, Saturday, at Senior high floor.

With the Yankees holding a two-point lead in the dying minutes of the tilt, Ed. Prosser tied the count. The quintets played to even terms in the first extra period at 15 all. In the last extra stanza, Prosser dropped the winning bucket. This was the fifth straight win for the Catholics.

NEW CASTLE HIGH DEFEATS ALLEGHENY 40-28

Locals Stage Scoring Bee

Nocera And Adams Combine To Get Twenty-One Points, 14-14 At The Half

ERIE EAST HI HERE TONIGHT

Staging an old-fashioned scoring bee in the opening game of the home season Saturday night at Washington High gym, the New Castle High Red Hurricane" basketball team topped Allegheny High 40 to 28 before a handful of fans. Erie East High will play New Castle here tonight at 8 o'clock.

The game was close and hard fought in the first half with the score deadlocked at 14-14. Strausbaugh and Nocera led the scoring for the Bridenbaughmen in the first half, with two field goals apiece. Keller led the scoring for the Alleghanies.

Locals Take Lead

In the second half the locals "turned on the heat" and emerged with 26 points through the fine work of Nocera who made four field goals and by Adams with three two-pointers. Coach Bridenbaugh used every available sub to give the boys a little experience. Of the subs used Bud Fraser and Carey former Washington Hi stars looked promising.

O'Neil the big Allegheny center was the high point man for the visitors with 11 points, through four field goals and three fouls. Visciarelli made nine points for the Alleghanies.

With a little more practice under their belts the locals are going to be just as tough as they were last year, it is generally expected.

Erie Boys Tonight

Tonight Erie East High will play here and another fine game is looked for. The preliminary will start at 7 o'clock.

Tuesday night the New Castle team will go to Sharon, Pa., for a return game to the one played here last year.

Four Bouts At Garden Tonight

Eustace Scheduled To Meet Middlekauf In Main Mat Bout

LEO WALLICK TO WRESTLE MARTINI

Peter Askounes and his troupe of wrestlers will hold forth tonight at Arena garden, in a four-bout show which will be a benefit for St. George's Greek Orthodox church. The feature bout will be filled by Allen Eustace, Kansas City and Bill Middlekauf, Los Angeles, heavyweights. The first bout will start at 8:30 p. m. and a crowded garden is anticipated.

Allen has one of the strongest pair of legs in wrestling, according to Promoter Askounes who did not forget to add that when Middlekauf employs a body slam few wrestlers arise. So, judging from this, excitement will probably be the keynote of the last bout because neither would like to lose the bout—which may be the last here this year.

Although the main bout appears inviting it will probably be no more exciting than the Leo Wallick-Angelo Martini semi-final. Leo has enjoyed a run of success here while Martini passed out quickly in his only appearance. He is a much better wrestler than his first appearance would indicate, so the fans hope for thrills in this "go."

Tony Marchoni, a frequent visitor to the garden ring, will take on Bob Blake, who, like Marchoni, is popular with the fans. It appears to the observer that this bout should be filled with plenty of fast work, likewise the first bout which will be staged by Morrie Suber of this city and Sailor Parker, an invader.

Owing to Christmas being only a few days off and the usual lull in athletics between Christmas and New Year's day, it is not likely any bouts will be held any more this year. At least, Promoter Askounes indicated this much in announcing the benefit show. No doubt there will be a big crowd present tonight.

If a Chinese husband has a sweetheart "decorum forbids him to make any reference to her in his home." It's that way here, too, but the word isn't decorum.

TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILL BRAUCHER
Central Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—One of the reasons why Connie Mack traded off Pinky Higgins is that the young man has such serious ideas about money . . . the star third baseman wrote to the lean and kindly leader of the A.'s that he could not sign again for the lean and not so kindly figure in his 1936 contract because he was buying some annuities and had to have a fatter pay envelope.

The joke still may be on Mr. Mack, who acquired Bill Weber in exchange for Pinky . . . it happens that Bill has some very earnest financial ambitions, too . . . another thrilling chapter will be added to this story when contracts for 1937 are mailed.

A subject for sober thought is offered in good faith to Major Ralph Sasse, former Army coach who now is guiding the destinies of Mississippi State . . . not a point was scored, major, through Duquesne's line all season . . . so maybe it wouldn't be a bad idea to guide Mississippi State's destinies over the air lanes in that ball game at Miami on New Year's day.

At The Ticket Window

Wry-necked Rube Marquard, one of the greater pitchers of another day, is a mutuels clerk at Tropical park race track . . . Granville's working days are over . . . the great son of Gallant Fox, winner of $110.-295 during the year, has run his last race. . . . Owner William Woodward has leased the horse to Kenneth M. Gilpin for five years of stud service at Kentmere farm Boyce, Va. . . . Not more than a month ago Harry Balsamo was being praised by every fistic expertc in these parts as the finest find of the year in boxing . . . then the former subway employe met Babe Risko and ran into a bunch of red lights . . . in a comeback the other night, Harry was knocked out by Solly Krieger after taking a flock of painful leather . . . so now the boxing experts who hailed Harry as a great discovery, and who likened his style to Stanley Ketchel's are saying that all he's got is a right hand . . . funny thing, though . . . it seems that whenever a boxer was overrated, it always was someone else who overrated him.

Heavy Dilemma

There are two ways of looking at the heavyweight championship situation . . . some of the lads are asking why the New York boxing commission should be so zealous as to forbid Braddock meeting Joe Louis, or any other fighter, before giving Schmeling a bout . . . they point out that, after all, Braddock is champion, that he should be allowed to accept any worthwhile challenger for a purse he deems adequate, and that if conditions were reversed, Braddock would have little luck trying to persuade German boxing powers (that would be Herr Hitler, eh?) to hold Schmeling, the champion, to any such limitations as the New York boxing commission imposes upon Braddock.

Others point out that when Schmeling came over last year he wanted to fight Braddock, and that as an ex-champion he deserved a shot at the title . . . but that the Braddock people were very willing to let him have a crack at Joe Louis instead, the winner to meet the champion.

You pay your money and take your choice.

Four Convicted Persons Await Court Sentence

Four In St. Louis Convicted Of Using Of Mails To Defraud Doctor

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 21.—Mrs. Nelle Muench, titan haired doctor's wife who claimed to be the mother of the famous "gift of God" baby, and three other defendants today awaited sentence in federal court on charges of using the mails to defraud Dr. Marsh Pitzman, wealthy bachelor physician and a former admirer of Mrs. Muench.

Mrs. Muench and her husband, Dr. Ludwig O. Muench, Attorney Wilfred Jones and Mrs. Helen Berroyer, a friend of Mrs. Muench, were found guilty of using the mails in furtherance of a scheme to defraud Dr. Pitzman by leading him to believe that Mrs. Muench had given birth to a child and that he was its father.

Four Found Guilty.

The St. Louis court of appeals last year ruled that Mrs. Muench had not given birth to a child and that the child she claimed was the son of Anna Ware, unwed Newton, Pa., domestic.

The jury found the four guilty on five seperate counts charging unlawful use of the mails in furtherance of a scheme to defraud Dr. Pitzman. Each count carries a maximum penalty of five years' imprisonment and a $1,000 fine. Defense attorneys have been given until Wednesday to file motions for a new trial.

The defendants were permitted to remain at liberty under their original bonds of $5,000 bond each.

Mrs. Hauptmann Claims She Will Vindicate Bruno

Claims She Is "About To Astound The World" With New Revelations

By KENNETH T. DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Dec. 21—Mrs. Anna Hauptmann, who claims she is about to vindicate her husband, the late Bruno Richard Hauptmann, today declared that a purported story told in Stockholm by Gunnar Svedberg, Swedish house painter about the Lindbergh kidnaping, is "just another pipe dream."

Svedberg, who said he once lived in New York, is reported to have told the American consul at Stockholm that the crime was committed by a gang of five men and a woman, and that Hauptmann was not involved in the actual kidnaping.

Will Close In

Through Julius Braun, head of the Braun International detective agency, who has been working for her since her husband was executed in New Jersey last April, Mrs. Hauptmann said:

"It is true that my husband was innocent. Otherwise, there is nothing to the Swede's story. It is just another crackpot story.

"We alone have the real facts. We are getting ready to close in on the guilty ones. They are all in this country and where we can put our hands on them. The story will come out soon from Governor Hoffman. Nobody but Gov. Hoffman will give out the real story."

Mrs. Hauptmann told the writer last week that she is still seeing Gov. Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey, on the case and that they are about to "astound the world" with certain revelations about the Lindbergh kidnaping and murder.

Braun said that Mrs. Hauptmann will leave the country "the instant the story comes out."

Plans Trip To Germany

"She is all ready to go to Germany," the detective said. "When Gov. Hoffman names the guilty ones she will sail. Her job will be finished and she will go to Germany for a rest. It will be an astounding story and she doesn't want to be here through all the excitement to follow."

When Braun and Mrs. Hauptmann were first told of the cabled dispatches of Svedberg's story, they grew excited and demanded:

"Did he mention the name of .....?"

They pronounced a German name. When they were told the Swede gave no names, they hastily asserted there was nothing to the story.

Mrs. Hauptmann and Braun admitted they were in the Hopewell vicinity again all day yesterday. They have been making frequent visits to the scene of the crime for which her husband was convicted. Braun's car was covered with mud from the sourland mountain roads.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—Monopoly might prove a blessing in some fields. For instance if George S. Kaufman took over the Broadway theater—lock, stock and barrel—and wrote all the plays presented, instead of merely all of the entertaining ones as he seems to be doing now.

His newest comedy, "You Can't Take It With You," supplied this correspondent with the grandest evening in the theater he has had since. "The Front Page." It concerns the lunatic affairs of a family of lovable ineffectuals and the equally hare-brained hangers-on it has been able to accumulate through the years.

Mrs. Sycamore writes plays—because somebody delivered a typewriter to the house by mistake eight years ago. Mr. Sycamore experiments in the cellar with fireworks, assisted by a Mr. De Pinna who, I think, once was a milkman but liked the menage and stayed on. A daughter studies for the ballet and makes fudge. Her husband has a printing press in the living room. There is grandpa, who will not, on principle, pay income tax and who decided to quit the nonsense of a workday job thirty-five years ago while riding in an elevator.

There are other assorted idiots, including an exiled princess, a Russian dancing teacher and a colored maid and her boy friend, who is on relief. In the midst of all this—and a brief summary has made it sound far less insane than it is lives one comparatively normal daughter and the nebulous plot concerns her efforts to achieve a happy wedding with her boss' son.

The importance of the play, aside from a running fire of dizzily hilarious dialogue, stems for me from the tenderness with which it defends the right of people to be a little cracked as long as they love one another and are happy. The Sycamores are happy, consistently and magnificently happy and their bliss is only threatened when sane, serious-minded folk collide with them.

"You Can't Take It With You" is far and away the best theater in town at the moment. It is farce handled with compassion, a rare and delicate operation. It is not a great play it is a true one and it is a very funny one. I recommended it for you next Broadway visit, even if the visit is delayed a year or so, for I stake all my insecure laurels as a prophet that "You Can't Take It With You" will be running well into 1938.

Of course, Mr. Kaufman had a collaborator in the person of Moss Hart. Perhaps it is ungracious to say so, but the Kaufman collaborators, skilled dramatists, story tellers and gagsters that they may be, never look very convincing on the program. You feel that you are watching a Kaufman play and the suspicion keeps rising in the back of your head that Mr. Kaufman doesn't need collaborators at all but gets lonesome sitting in a room all by himself hammering on a play and so invites a friend to come keep him company.

And speaking of divertissement (as, alas, I so frequently find myself doing) there are worse ways to kill time than watching the dancing of Bill Robinson, the 58-year-old negro tap dancer who looks 30. He is currently unreeling his rhythmic toe patterns at the Cotton Club, temple of Harlem jazzique moved to Broadway not long ago.

Robinson, considered one of the greatest tap dancers of all time, has no inconsiderable talent as a storyteller. I think his joke delivery ought to get more attention. It is part of his technique to set the audience laughing and then go into a dance, so that the spectators, weak and defenceless, are thoroughly vulnerable to his art. No one, since the days of the classic minstrel "end men" have been so able to tell anecdotes of sepia citizens with the verve, the drawl and effectiveness of Robinson.

President Burton Here Reports Plans Begun For Titusville Meet

The annual western Pennsylvania Young Men's conference which the Y. M. C. A. sponsors will take place next year in Titusville on Saturday and Sunday, April 3 and 4, Charles Burton, this city, president of the conference, announced today.

The conference, which 300 attend, met in New Castle early in 1936.

At Butler a few days ago President Burton met with a group of 30 club representatives from many cities to plan the outline of the Titusville sessions. A conference combining the inspiration and project type of program is planned, the local leader said.

The conference date next year will be later in order that delegates traveling long distances to Titusville will not face the weather risk they would in February.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

Calling Petunia calling Petunia . . . where were you at 8 o'clock Saturday night? I admit I was a little late but couldn't you wait a few minutes? I was all set for a date . . . had on my best suit and then you took a powder. Oh me, such is life.

Don't forget to take a ride around the town and see the Christmas decorations. They are beautiful and there should be a lot to see by Wednesday night. Of course Thursday night will be the night.

This is the time of year when we know that there is such a thing as a college. Of course there are a few parents that can never forget. But the majority of the people only realize, at Christmas time, that there are so many college students. They are all home or will be home by this evening. Oh for the life of a college student. Mothers, keep your daughters home, Grove City and Penn State are back in town.

* * *

Let me take this opportunity to welcome all the college boys and girls home. The town is yours, as you all know, but please be careful with it. Don't liven it up too much . . . we, the people have a hard time getting over your vacations. Don't forget we live here the year around, and let me tell you something, there are not many cities that can beat good old New Castle. Just wait till you have finished school and you will see how nice New Castle really is. Don't forget the little classified ads, will make Christmas money for you. There is still plenty of time!

Stock Market Is Stronger Today

Rails And Coppers Lead In Recovery Of Stock Market Today

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—The stock market showed recovery tendencies today after Saturday's crackup on the Interstate Commerce Commission's denial of the railroad freight rate surcharges extension.

Rails themselves were without uniform trend, eastern roads doing little and the western carriers gaining more ground. Motors also were under some pressure on the serious labor situation in the industry.

Coppers rose about a point on strength in prices abroad and the belief that higher domestic output will be absorbed by increased demand. Fractional gains ruled in steel and oils.

Utilities displayed a tendency to improve. Electric Power and Light issues were strong on the big earnings gain over a year ago.

Aviations recaptured some of their one-time buoyancy on the annual report of the secretary of war in which he recommended further large purchases in 1937. Douglas rose nearly two points.

In the merchandising group, Gimbel rose around a point.

Bonds were irregular with rallying tendencies in rails. Grains eased while cotton was steady.

RESCUE WORKERS HUNT VICTIMS OF SALVADOR QUAKE

250 bodies had been recovered from the ruins and fears were expressed that the number of victims buried under the debris might total more than 1,000.

As soon as reports of the tragedy seeped through wrecked communication systems, the government immediately ordered troops and Red Cross workers to the scene. President Martinez, taking charge, personally gave the orders.

In addition to San Vicente, four towns suffered heavy destruction. They were San Cayesmo, Tecoluca, Acatepec and san Sebastian.

While the terror of the recurring quakes was at its height, Mount San Vicente, towering over the stricken city, burst into volcanic eruption, showering San Vicente and its populace with volcanic ashes.

Spectacle Of Desolation

Telegraph communications between San Vicente and San Salvador, the capital, were disrupted for a time, and the 40 mile area between the two cities presented a spectacle of desolation. San Salvador, however, was not affected by the tremors.

This correspondent made a trip to San Vincente as soon as reports of the quake reached the capital. When I arrived there, I found the town completely destroyed.

The streets were covered with debris from fallen buildings and crashing walls, and it was in this way that most of the victims lost their lives or were injured.

I was the only correspondent to visit the wrecked city, and the moment I arrived I was pressed into service, digging through the wreckage for bodies, aiding the injured and doing whatever I could to alleviate the suffering of the inhabitants.

Many Minor Tremors

Hours after the first quake struck, the ground at San Vicente still shuddered with minor tremors, and residents, fearing a recurrence of the disaster, fled by the thousands.

Snatching their most precious belongings, they departed afoot, on carts, in automobiles and on trains.

The road to San Salvador was soon packed with refugees fleeing to the safety of the capital, and a stream of cars and trucks moved constantly in both directions.

Estimates of the injured varied widely, and officials said an accurate count would be impossible until rescue workers had a chance to go through every foot of the debris and search every wrecked house. Estimates of the injured ranged between 500 to 1,000. The most severe casualties, according to latest check-ups were confined to San Vicente.

Great Excitement

When word of the earthquake spread throughout this tiny Central American republic, the greatest excitement ensued. Available telephone and telegraph wires hummed as frantic friends and relatives of San Vicente residents sought to learn their fate.

Emergency lines which were set up were unable to handle the traffic, although the government did everything possible to reestablish normal communications.

When the quake was at its height, it was so strong many persons in San Vicente were unable to leave their houses. Others managed to get outside only to have walls or buildings topple upon them.

Rescuers expressed fears San Vicente may be threatened with an epidemic as a result of the disaster, which played havoc with sanitation arrangements, and because of the difficulty of reaching the victims promptly

Relief workers also used all possible facilities to rush food and provisions to the quake refugees, but for a time it appeared the shortage of food might become acute. On my trip to San Vicente I was unable to obtain a meal at any price until I returned to the capital. Later, however, trucks loaded with bread and other foods sped to the ruined areas.

San Vicente is one of the largest towns in El Salvador and one of the richest. It was founded in 1530 by 50 Spanish families and some Negro slaves.

In its long history it has been the birthplace of some of the most illustrious of Salvadorieans—presidents, writers, poets and musicians.

It was twice the capital of the republic. It is situated in the rich Jiboa valley near the Lempa river.

B. & O. SHOP EMPLOYES ACCORD HONOR TO BOOTH

by Rev. Fr. Galvin. Following the dinner Chairman Skundor introduced Mayor Charles E. McGrath as the first spokesman.

The mayor said that the testimonial being paid came as the result of the qualities the workers had found in the departing foreman and that the city was proud that Mr. Booth had lived here. He also said that while the city disliked to lose him yet there was pleasure in seeing Mr. Booth advance.

President Genkinger of the chamber of commerce said that in losing Mr. Booth the city had lost a very good citizen and he the presence of a friend. He said all were glad to know of his advance and what will be New Castle's loss will be Willard's gain.

Many Compliments.

John Brogan, secretary-treasurer of the Trades and Labor assembly, bespoke the body's congratulations upon Mr. Booth's promotion and hoped, he said, for his continued success whereupon Major Guy Wadlinger, commander of the 26th district of the American Legion, was introduced.

Major Wadlinger told of Mr. Booth's military record in the World war. He said Mr. Booth was a member of the Perry Gaston post here and served with the First division, A. E. F., and had been awarded the Croix de Guerre and Purple Heart. Mr. Booth was wounded three times, the first time at Cantigny.

He paid his congratulations upon the promotion of Mr. Booth and expressed the hope that he would find the same comradeship in his new home as he had found here and said that everybody was glad to see Mr. Booth stepping up the ladder.

Hearty Welcome.

I. L. Harper, successor to Mr. Booth, who comes here with a record of achievement from the Alton railroad, was given a hearty welcome by those present. Harper said it had been his pleasure to know Mr. Booth personally for 15 years.

He said he realized that in matching Mr. Booth's record he had a mark to shoot at here as the testimonial demonstrated. He said that he had been welcomed when he walked into the local shop here and promised the workers his entire cooperation.

He said he knew that with the supervision in New Castle and support of the men "we can put over our problems and I hop. that you will feel as kindly toward me as you do toward Mr. Booth." His remarks drew a big ovation.

Master Mechanic Speaks.

Walter Harris, master mechanic, was the next spokesman. He succeeded Harry Reese some time ago. He expressed regret of the latter's inability to be present owing to pressing business at Cincinnati, but carried a message from Reese to the "old gang" and congratulations to Mr. Booth.

Harris announced that Mr. Booth's advancement had been due to his qualities and fair treatment of employes and added that the same could be said for Mr. Harper, who has now taken over his new duties. He said he hoped that within a few years there will be a similar gathering for Mr. Harper.

Telegrams congratulating Mr. Booth were received by Chairman Skundor from various officials, among them E. J. McSweeney and J. L. Norris. Several on the transportation end, W. C. Baker and O. C. Lott, made brief addresses as did J. D. Patterson, secretary of the local shop federation, who spoke of Mr. Booth's fair treatment and wished him success.

Numerous Speakers.

Others who spoke were: Richard Morganti, machinists; H. D. Pitzer, boilermakers; C. M. Allen, sheet metal workers; P. J. Morotti, carmen; Michael Shuler, electrical workers; Joseph Pulsiak, blacksmiths; Marshall Weaver, firemen and oilers; Herman Kenest, boilermakers; Mr. Scanlon of the Veterans; Charles Cotton, road foreman of engines, and also S. O. Lewis, a road foreman of engines; J. F. Conley, general foreman at Glenwood; George Short, "trouble shooter"; Ralph Vandino of the clerks and Vince Travers, chief clerk.

Following their brief remarks, Mr. Skundor called upon William Mulcahey, the oldest machinist in seniority at the B. & O. shops, and who in turn, in a very appropriate manner, presented the gift, a beautiful Hamilton gold watch.

In making the presentation, Mulcahey said Mr. Booth had won the respect of everybody and expressed the hope he was headed for something bigger and better. He recalled that Harry Reese started his career under his (Mulcahey's) supervision.

Visibly affected, Mr. Booth arose and said: "I want to say I appreciate this testimonial," after which he recited a humorous incident when he was in the army, then said:

"I just don't know what to say to tell you how much I appreciate this. I tried to be fair with you and I want to thank you for the support given me while here.

"I have a big job ahead of me at Willard," adding that, in succeeding Mr. Harris, he was going to a town where everybody was Mr. Harris' friend, and he hoped, he said, to also make friends.

He said "we all should put our shoulder to the job on the Akron division." Mr. Booth said he disliked leaving New Castle and his friends, but promised "I'll be back to see you whenever I get the opportunity."

During the evening, Miss Kate Smith of New Castle rendered vocal numbers as did Harry Elwell, with Charles Shebey at the piano.

Maybe Nature suffers, too. A Summer wind of the same force doesn't wail and howl around the house like a banshee.

A man should write his biography before he is sixty. By that time, nothing he has done seems worth mentioning.

GOVERNOR LANDON IS DAY'S VISITOR AT WHITE HOUSE

Gridiron dinner—the function which brought the Kansan to Washington.

Mr. Roosevelt had invited him to be a White House overnight guest, but Landon explained he was going out on a late train immediately after the dinner.

Arrives At White House

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21. — Work momentarily came to a standstill in the white house executive offices today, when Governor Alfred M. Landon of Kansas, arrived to pay his respects to President Roosevelt.

Stenographers and clerks left their desks and came into the lobby or pressed their noses against front windows to catch a glimpse of the man who might have been taking over the white house next month had political fates not decreed otherwise.

The 1936 Republican standard bearer rolled up to the executive offices at 10:50, ten minutes before his scheduled appointment with Mr. Roosevelt.

William R. Castle, former Republican undersecretary of state, and two Kansas newspapermen, were in the limousine which brought Landon from the hotel where he is stopping long enough to attend tonight's gridiron dinner.

Landon Smiling

A battery of cameras went into action as the smiling bespectacled governor stepped from his car. The still photographers posed him for a seemingly interminable number of shots standing on the steps.

While the still men were photographing Landon, one of their flash bulbs exploded with a loud plop. Landon smiled and said:

"Now boys, we don't want any accidents. We got through the whole campaign without one, you know."

Suddenly, over their shoulders he spied a movie man who had traveled with him during the last campaign.

"Hi, Charlie!" Landon exclaimed, waving at the big cameraman, and the photographers got their first bit of action.

Poses For Movies

As soon as the still men were through, Landon walked briskly through their ranks and greeted his movie friend — Charles Mack of News of the Day, and obligingly posed for the movie cameras.

Then Landon started into the offices. Just inside the door, he was greeted by a woman reporter from Maine newspapers.

The governor was shaking hands enthusiastically with her when one of the photographers rather abruptly opened the door and pulled him outside for "just one more shot."

"But you don't understand," Landon said with a chuckle as he was wrested from the lady reporter, "This is Maine."

Landon moved briskly through the lobby and was greeted by Pat McKenna, veteran white house doorkeeper.

McKenna took Landon's grey fedora and dark grey coat, and escorted the governor into the office of Secretary Marvin H. McIntyre, which adjoins the president's office.

PENNA POWER CO. WILL EXPEND $2,800,000

portant part in providing continuous service to this section during the disastrous St. Patrick's Day flood, it is related.

Modern practice in utility operation requires that the requirements of customers be anticipated long in advance of the actual need, since considerable time must necessarily elapse between the placing of the order and the final construction. Studies made by engineers of the Pennsylvania Power Company indicated that the time had arrived to consider provisions for additional electricity requirements in this area, it is announced.

The decision of the company to construct a plant, and especially to construct it in the vicinity of New Castle is about the most welcome news this locality has received for several years. It is of the utmost importance industrially in this section, and is regarded by citizens as the probable forerunner of greater development in the district and also indicates the lasting faith of the Pennsylvania Power Company in the future of this New Castle district.
